

BRITISH PLAN STRIKE CURB

SENATE ACTS TO PURGE U. S. OF BOLSHEVISM

Votes an Inquiry as Reds' Doctrines Win Converts.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—(Special.)—Both the administrative and legislative branches of the government have become thoroughly alarmed over the spread of bolshevism in the United States.

As a result of a series of meetings of radicals here at which the Russian bolsheviks were lauded, what is considered an imminent danger of the infection of the American public with bolshevik doctrines claimed the attention of congress and the administration today.

The matter was discussed at the weekly meeting of the cabinet without any definite conclusion being reached beyond a decision to acquaint the president with the situation.

Senate Votes Inquiry.

The senate adopted a resolution authorizing the propaganda committee to extend its investigation to "any efforts being made to propagate in this country the principles of any party exercising or claiming to exercise any authority in Russia, whether such efforts originate in this country or are imported from abroad, or to incite the overthrow of the government of this country or any government by force or by the destruction of life or property or the general cessation of law."

The committee decided to begin the inquiry on Thursday by summoning a number of radical "intellectuals," some of whom recently were listed as agitators.

One of the aims of the committee will be the drafting of legislation to check the spread of bolshevism by detecting foreign agitators and suppressing treasonable literature.

As to Immigration Bill.

It is expected the revelations of the bolshevik movement will impart new impetus to the passage of the pending bill to prohibit immigration for four years and also to the bill to deport all alien enemies.

During the discussion in the senate Senator Borah expressed the conviction that the country would have to deal with the doctrine of violence at an early date.

"I think one of the best ways to handle this question, and meet it early, is to begin to preach, over and over, Americanism from every rostrum in the United States," the senator said.

Peace League Assailed.

"The soviet government has its ends throughout the world, but who in this hour is preaching Americanism and the great fundamental principles of Americanism in this country? The League to Enforce Peace will be the campaign in Boston on Feb. 6, and if they succeed they will undoubtedly land us, and that is under the control of internationalism."

"When you transfer the sovereign power of this government to some international tribunal, which will be controlled by those who are not responsible to the American people, and thereby internationalize this government, you arrive at the same ultimate goal that Trotsky and Lenin are permitted to arrive at if they are permitted."

"What we need in this country is the fostering and strengthening of the national spirit. Take care of our own institutions, strengthen them in the minds of the American people."

Pays Respects to Socialists.

"I ask the senator if it is not a fact that every Socialist from the days of Marx has been an internationalist?" interrupted Senator Kellogg.

"Yes, and every man who advocates a league to enforce peace is an internationalist," Senator Borah replied.

"That is where it lands. You might as well say, 'I will stop midway on the way to Niagara falls' as to say that I will take a piece of this internationalism and stop at a certain point."

"Let us get back to the religion of the fathers. If you would destroy bolshevism and I. W. W. let every man in this chamber volunteer to go into the front and speak Americanism every quarter of this nation and see a revival of faith in our republic."

THAT PLUMBER SURE STIRRED UP REMUS FAMILY

Wife to Ask Divorce; Sequel to Row in Rival's Home.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING EVENTS.

Attorney George Remus happened to be at the home of Mrs. Gene Holmes, 203 Ridge avenue, Evanston, on Monday evening when Herbert Youngs, a plumber, of 431 Sherman avenue offered to return for a reward offered by Mrs. Holmes the watch Mrs. Holmes' daughter, Ruth, had lost.

Youngs thought $15. Mrs. Holmes thought $5 enough. Remus then Youngs out of the house. Youngs had Remus arrested. All this got into the papers and via that avenue to Mrs. Remus. Now, then—

"I intend to start suit for an absolute divorce," Mrs. Remus said yesterday. "I went to Evanston. There I learned Mr. Remus had been visiting with Mrs. Holmes intermittently for five years or more, and so I went to see my lawyer. I saw Mr. Remus this afternoon, too. I told him what I was going to do. He tried to dissuade me, but it's all over between us; he has made good promises, only to break them, once too often. It's the end."

Wife on the Trail.

"I first went to see the plumber's wife in Evanston. She said the plumber told her Mr. Remus had not come into Mrs. Holmes' apartment from upstairs, as the papers stated, but that he had been there all the time. I knew he was mixed up with some woman in Evanston, so that made me suspicious that I was on the right trail. Then I went to Mrs. Holmes' home."

"When she learned who I was she grew frightened and at first would not let me in the house. Finally I persuaded her I was not at all excited about my discovery, so she asked me to come in. I had a long talk with her. She broke down completely. She admitted Mr. Remus gave her a $100 check for Christmas. She cried as though her heart would break and offered, if I wanted my husband, to give him up."

"I told her I didn't want him. 'You may keep the rubbish,' I told her. I told her I had been trying for five years to be rid of him and that I now was glad it was all over."

Remarks on Rival's Gifts.

"Did she say she loved Mr. Remus?" "No," she replied, "she didn't say so; I never asked her. But it was plain enough by the way she acted."

Mrs. Remus made a few remarks concerning Mrs. Holmes' gifts.

"I would consider her a very plain woman," Mrs. Remus observed. "She is about 35 years old, I should judge. She has a 15 year old daughter, you know. I asked her about her husband. She said she had been divorced."

"Mr. Remus hasn't supported me, to speak of, for five years. He has lost everything we had, even our home at 801 Windsor avenue. His automobile that he gave my daughter, who is now 17, he has been using to drive around his women friends. He doesn't drink, but he's just as jumpy, and spends all his money on women."

"I have been very lucky if I have had $20 a week from Mr. Remus for the support of myself and daughter in the last five years."

"My Life Above Suspicion."

Mrs. Holmes last night at first denied Mrs. Remus' charges. She insisted Mr. Remus had been visiting a family on the floor above and had "happened down into the row." But soon she started to admit things.

Contrary to Mrs. Remus' opinion, the reporter found Mrs. Holmes dark and slender, with a face and form good to look upon. Her smile he considers exhilarating.

"O, Mrs. Remus was here, yes," Mrs. Holmes said, with a flash of pearly teeth. "And I hesitated to let her in for a good reason. From what I had heard about her I thought I should fear her physically. I'm not very big, you know, and well—Mrs. Remus is big."

"But I haven't done anything that isn't nice. My life is above suspicion. Mrs. Remus just has some fantastic notions. There is no truth in her absurd statements."

Mrs. Holmes took the reporters for an auto ride through the city, where she on Monday. The car bore the license number 330423. When one hinted she might trace the owner, she said:

"O, I'll save you the trouble; the car belongs to Mr. Remus."

Former Divorce Suit Dropped.

Mrs. Remus started divorce proceedings against Attorney Remus in 1915. She charged cruelty. A month afterward there was a reconciliation and the suit was dropped.

Attorney Remus could not be located last night.

RETAILERS BUY AT CUT PRICES, SELL AT HIGH?

"Tribune" Inquiry Sheds Light on Food Market.

FOOD PRICE CHANGES

THE following price list shows the fluctuations that have taken place in prices for staple articles of food since Nov. 11, the time the armistice was signed:

Nov. 12, Feb. 4, Nov. 12, Feb. 4

Wheat flour dropped at wholesale from $12.50 to $8 or $9; it retailed the same—five pounds for 35 cents. Graham flour dropped slightly at wholesale; remains the same at retail.

Corn meal at wholesale dropped 1 cent a pound. Hominy (whole) reduced $1.35, but the retail price advanced slightly to 8 cents a pound.

Apples have advanced, both wholesale and retail. Bread shows no change in price.

RETAIL PRICES FIRM.

Why should retail prices for foodstuffs remain practically stationary, while wholesale figures are much lower for many articles than they were when the armistice was signed?

The federal grand jury is seeking an answer to this question and is determined to locate profiteers who are taking daily toll from consumers.

Forty-five retail food dealers have been summoned to appear before the grand jurors today, when the alleged cases of profiteering and food hoarding started last month will be reopened. It is likely that the inquiry will last fully two weeks, and it is expected that indictments will result.

The search for violators of the food laws is being conducted by Frederick Dickinson, assistant United States district attorney.

"Tribune" Makes Inquiry.

THE TRIBUNE started a little investigation on its own account into costs of staple articles of food to the retailer and to the consumer, with the following results:

Comparison of wholesale prices Nov. 12, the day after the armistice was signed, with yesterday's figures shows interesting changes. Prices for apples have gone skyrocketing, and, as a result, many restaurants are charging 15 cents for a cut of apple pie that would have cost 10 cents two months ago, and 5 cents not such a great while before. On Nov. 22 apples were selling at $4.50 to $5.50 a barrel; now they are $6.50 to $10. In two months the price of cooking apples at retail has gone from 5 to 8 cents a pound.

Butter and Eggs Fall.

Butter and eggs have been the star performers in produce markets since the signing of the armistice. Butter was 57 1/2 to 68 cents, wholesale, Nov. 12, now it is 44 to 45 cents, having touched a peak price of 67 1/2 centime. Eggs were selling at 64 cents, wholesale, on Nov. 12, then they went to 67 cents, and yesterday were quoted at 35 cents, an exhibition of "ground and lofty tumbling" that is to receive special attention from the grand jurors.

Dry navy beans have also suffered a decline in price. They were selling at 11 to 12 cents a pound, wholesale, Nov. 12, and now they are 7 1/2 to 7 cents. Domestic cheese was 34 1/2 to 35 cents Nov. 12, now it is 21 cents. Cheddar cheese was 32 1/2 cents and now it is 30 to 31 cents. Live poultry is higher. Fowls have gone up from 22 to 28 cents, spring chickens from 21 to 25 cents, ducks from 22 to 23 cents.

Potatoes, at wholesale, are slightly lower, but the retail price remains steady. Prices Nov. 12 were $1.50 to $2.00.

WEST SIDE FIRE ROUTS FAMILIES FROM THEIR BEDS

Several families were rescued from a fire at 1111-1113 Blue Island avenue last night. The first floor is occupied by the Midland Paper Box company, and the paper caused such dense smoke it was difficult to effect the rescue. But nobody was hurt.

The second floor at 1111 is occupied by Nicholas Gates and wife and six children and by Mrs. Rachel Simon and her three children. On the third floor live John Bartholomew and wife and two children and Michael Bolls and family and two boarders.

Battalion Marshal Kerwin of the Seventh battalion and members of engine company No. 6 and truck company No. 5 carried the people to safety by ladders and fire escapes. Policemen McCarthy and Behrens wrapped blankets around the children and carried them to the office of the Jewish Daily Forward near by.

Mrs. Bartholomew refused to leave until she had wrapped her baby, who is ill, in warm clothing. She then carried him down the fire escape unassisted.

Have 150 Millions Invested.

It is stated that there is $150,000,000 of British capital invested in the liquor business in America, chiefly in brewing corporation stocks.

About fifteen years ago one of the favorite pastimes of American promoters was to combine two or three more brewing companies, capitalize the new concern ten times over and then unload on the British investor at par. The result was that the British investor thereafter played a monotonously losing game. Now he sees a chance to unload on Uncle Sam at par.

The contention is, that since the government of the United States is about to destroy a great industry by its own legislative action, there can be no question of its responsibility for the loss of British capital thereby affected.

It is reported that Italians in the California wine industry are meditating following the British example.

Connecticut Not for Drys.

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 4.—By a vote of 20 to 14 the Connecticut senate this afternoon refused to ratify the federal prohibition amendment. All those who voted in favor of ratification are Republicans.

The resolution now will go to the house.

Half Won in Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 4.—The joint resolution ratifying the prohibition amendment to the federal constitution was today adopted by the lower branch of the Pennsylvania legislature. The vote was 123 to 93.

Up Friday in Rhode Island.

ASKS HUGE SUM AS 'DRY' DAMAGE

Britain Will Claim Its Victims.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—(Special.)—An international aspect of prohibition has been developed by representations of the British government through diplomatic channels to the state department.

Great Britain has politely called the attention of the government of the United States to the advisability of having the money in hand with which to compensate British investors for the losses occasioned to them by the destruction of the brewing and distilling business through prohibition.

CALL TO ARMS IS SOUNDED BY MOSCOW SOVIET

HELINGSFORS, Feb. 4.—[Havas.]—A decree issued by the Central Soviet of Moscow has called to the colors all men between the ages of 29 and 45 years. The men will be ordered to prosecute the war in case the proposed conference on the island of Prinkipo fails.

Loyal Russians Retreat.

ARCHANGEL, Feb. 2.—[Delayed.]—By the Associated Press.—The Russian detachment operating with the Americans on the Pinea front retreated several miles yesterday after having unsuccessfully attempted an attack in which it encountered superior numbers of the bolshevik forces.

Artillery and patrol actions continue on all sectors of the front.

An American airplane yesterday bombed bolshevik positions on the Vaga river.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 4.—In their advance from Drinsk the bolsheviks have captured Vilkomir, forty-five miles north-northwest of Vilna, the capital of Lithuania, according to a report from Vilna.

GENERAL STRIKE DUE TOMORROW IN ALL SEATTLE

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 4.—Seattle labor unions announced tonight that all was in readiness for a general strike here at 10 a. m. Thursday. This strike, involving, it is estimated 65,000 workers, including 25,000 metal trades workers, already out in shipyards and contract shops, is said by labor leaders to be the first general strike in the country.

City authorities will operate municipal light, water and other utilities, replacing any strikers with other men. The situation on the Clyde and at Belfast is improving. An increasing number of men are remaining at work in the Glasgow district.

$6,150,000 BOND ISSUE TO RUSH UNION STATION

Immediate work on the completion of the Union station project was assured yesterday. The state public utilities commission issued an order authorizing the Chicago Union Station company to issue $6,150,000 worth of bonds to finance the work this year.

This will permit the work to go ahead now, and will not require that it be held up until the federal government advances the money.

Regional Director of Railroads R. H. Ashton, has given his approval to an immediate start on completing the improvement.

Commissioner of Public Works Francis last night said this was the last obstacle in the way of the project.

Cabinet Acts to Bar Peril of Shutdown

BULLETIN.

Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable. [Copyright: 1919.]

LONDON, Feb. 5.—(Wednesday.)—(By Wireless.)—The Chronicle understands that a meeting of the cabinet was held last night to consider the labor situation and that as the result the government contemplates taking immediate action, the nature of which is not specified.

It is feared that the whole of the country is in danger of a general strike, and unofficial reports say the union leaders have been warned that government action will be taken.

BY HENRY M. HYDE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) [By Special Cable.]

LONDON, Feb. 4.—London is in a pretty mess today. The tubes are still closed down. This morning engineers on district steam suburban lines joined the underground railway strikers, and no trains ran. Scores of thousands who come to work on the district trains yesterday crowded the streets and fought for places on buses. An unexpected strike on the trolley lines on the Surrey side of the river made the congestion and delay even worse.

From early this morning till nearly noon Oxford street, Piccadilly, Haymarket and the Strand were filled with marching processions of shopgirls, clerks, and business men tramping down to their waiting jobs. This afternoon and evening the same streets are packed with the reverse current flowing homeward.

Tramways Still Going.

Fortunately, the bus men and women and the drivers of the tramways have so far not fallen victims to the strike fever. Reports as to what they will do are contradictory. In fact, it seems to be that nobody—least of all the union officials—can be sure of what any group of workmen is likely to do.

For instance, with no warning, most of the waiters and cooks in the great London hotels and restaurants went out on strike this morning. At the Savoy, Ritz-Carlton, and others the chefs and a majority of the waiters were out, and all sorts of employes were pressed into service to serve such meals as could be prepared.

War Cabinet Meets.

The war cabinet, headed by Andrew Bonar Law, in the absence of Premier Lloyd George, with whom, in Paris, Law had a long distance conversation, met this morning to consider the whole industrial situation. There was hope that some arrangement might be made under which the men would return to work pending a full hearing and a decision. When the meeting adjourned, after a session of two hours, Bonar Law said there was as yet no statement to be made on the strike situation.

It is said the electrical workers' union, which threaten to leave London in darkness after 6 o'clock tomorrow evening, has been notified that if the men strike the government will take measures to guard the power stations and will run them by volunteer labor.

MEET LABOR LEADERS.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—[By Associated Press.]—The cabinet and various government departments concerned in the labor troubles have been very active today seeking a solution of the difficulties. There have been numerous interviews and conferences with representatives of the strike movements and trade unions.

In a general way the government has decided to maintain its policy of non-intervention in strikes not authorized by trade unions, but at the same time directing its influence toward inducing the malcontent workers to see the advisability of acting through their official trade representatives.

The situation on the Clyde and at Belfast is improving. An increasing number of men are remaining at work in the Glasgow district.

GIVE DETAILS FOR LEAGUE; SPEED WORK

U. S. Views Embodied in Outline Being Worked Out.

PARIS, Feb. 4.—The peace conference has succeeded in putting a definite end to the fighting between the Poles and the Czech-Slavs. In the official report there was left unexplained the remarkable statement that the Czech-Slavs had agreed to turn over their munitions of war to the Poles, their former foe.

This is not a military surrender, but was a sign of complete reconciliation of these two new states and a willingness on the part of one to help the other against other enemies. The Czech-Slavs had no hostilities on their hands except those with the Poles. On the contrary, Poland was fighting on two other fronts, against the Ukrainians and the bolsheviks. It is to aid them in these other fights that the Czechs are giving them munitions.

PARIS, Feb. 4.—[By the Associated Press.]—President Wilson presided tonight over the commission on the society of nations, which had before it the completed project for constituting the league, discussing it article by article.

While there is no authoritative information concerning the details of the project, the distribution of printed drafts among the members has disclosed the main features.

Two Plans Considered.

These can be summarized as follows: Two main plans have been presented, which the members of the commission regard as embodying the American views, though both plans are composite, containing the best features from various sources, American, British, French, and Italian.

Both plans are being considered together.

In its original form the first plan is generally regarded as more democratic and therefore more acceptable to the small powers, whereas the revision plan is so acceptable to the small powers as it eliminates them from the executive branch of the proposed organization and is a long step toward the creation of an international supreme council, with a fundamental basis of codified international law.

FIRST PLAN DRAWN

The first plan has three main features:

First—A legislative branch, on which the great and small nations were equally represented, each as a unit.

Second—An executive branch consisting of two members from each of the great powers, United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, and Japan, and nine members chosen from the small powers. This gives the executive body a total membership of fifteen, of whom ten represent the great powers and nine represent the small powers.

Third—Arbitration is provided for the determination of international issues. In case of a dispute between two nations, each nation names an arbitrator and these two select a third arbitrator. Three arbitrators thus chosen constitute a tribunal for determining the issues.

The foregoing, on broad lines, is the project which meets with most favor among the small nations, as they would be represented both on the legislative and executive branches. It is to be noted that such an organization would follow somewhat the lines of that of the present peace conference, as the legislative branch is analogous to the piecemeal session of the conference, while the executive branch is similar to the council of the great powers now holding daily sessions.

PROGRAM AS REVISED

The revised plan makes several important changes. The legislative branch remains the same, with the great and small nations represented. The executive branch is modified, however, so as to consist chiefly of the great powers, with two representatives from each, to which others from the small powers may be added when necessary.

interests especially affecting them are at issue.

The third branch is entirely changed, so as to eliminate the plan of arbitrators and substitute an executive council of the great powers as a tribunal for judging international issues, analogous to the international supreme council.

It is the two later features which are regarded by the small powers as tending to concentrate the executive and judicial branches in the hands of the great powers, whereas the small powers prefer the plan giving them a status on the executive branch and arbitration as a means of judicial determination instead of a tribunal of the great powers.

Small Versus Large.

The question now before the commission is one largely between the great and small powers.

Several of the preparing amendments to the revised plan, with a view to giving them representatives in all branches of the organization, and it is said that the tendency among the great powers is to give every reasonable consideration to these desires, while preserving to the major powers such voice as their larger interests and responsibilities warrant.

Early League Forecast.

The progress made by the peace conference committee, as an outcome of the energetic Anglo-American campaign for quicker action, has strengthened the hope among the most optimistic delegates that the league of nations may be established and that even certain peacekeepers may be settled before President Wilson leaves for the United States, less than two weeks from now.

The president and Premier Lloyd George are understood to be agreed that there should be no further delay, and they are urging speed. Some opposition is being encountered in certain quarters, but the general sentiment of the delegates who have expressed themselves is for prompt action.

The American delegates, it is said, are satisfied that the project for a society of nations as it will emerge from the commission will not conflict with or impair the vitality of the Monroe doctrine.

There are indications that the landing of troops with hostile intent on the soil of another nation will automatically constitute a state of war between the aggressor and all the states in the society of nations unless the period of probation has expired before the landing. The method of making such a war would be left to each state for settlement.

BUREAU OF LABOR.

PARIS, Feb. 4.—[By the Associated Press.]—A conference of allied peace societies, comprising delegates of the United States, England, France, and Belgium, favoring the league of nations project, has given out resolutions adopted by it. In addition to the principles outlined in the plans handed by Leon Bourgeois to the allied premiers last Saturday.

They declare for an international bureau of labor and periodic conferences between employers and employees, in line with the British project now before the labor commissions. They recommend the creation of an international commission of education to inform the public on the functions of the league of nations and educate the people in the doctrines of democratic citizenship.

They further recommend that the enemy countries be required to limit their armament and the manufacture of arms and munitions in order to enable the entente states to reduce their military forces.

FORCE IF NECESSARY.

BY HENRY WALES.

PARIS, Feb. 4.—[By the Associated Press.]—Resolutions adopted by delegates to a conference here of allied peace societies indicate that the society powers should be a league to enforce peace, as the resolutions regarding the limitation of armaments envisage, carrying out the league's decisions through armed force, if necessary. This comprehends that, with the enormous resources making it possible in operation in all the allied countries, and the allies' material supremacy over the enemy when the war ended, coupled with the material taken from Germany by the terms of the armistice, the allies are safe in taking to increase naval and military forces, pending permanent settlement of the situation.

Cognizance, is taken of the fact that all the allies' material and the material seized from the Germans may suddenly be made obsolete through inventions and discoveries, by providing for the pooling of all such new ideas.

Long Range Artillery.

For instance, the Germans' new long range artillery may revolutionize order and, and its development may entirely change the nature of the war. Britain's super submarines of the Monitor type may cause radical changes in all warships, and the use of ethal gas shell is acknowledged to be in its infancy.

GREEK CLAIMS HEARD.

PARIS, Feb. 4.—[By the Associated Press.]—The supreme council at its meeting today agreed that questions in the statement of Premier Venizelos concerning Greek territorial interests in the peace settlement should be referred to a commission of experts whose duty it would be to make recommendations for a just settlement.

WHAT DOES MAN IN STREET THINK ABOUT LEAGUE?

U. S. Envoys Wonder if He Wants to Take Up Burden.

By Henry Wales.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—[Delayed.]—The American mission to negotiate peace wants to know what the Milwaukee milkman, the Boston butcher, and the Chicago taxi chauffeur think of the United States being a policeman for Constantinople and the Dardanelles or acting as the "big brother" for Arabia and Syria, or taking tolls and tending the locks of the Kiel canal?

The league of nations which is in process of formation must decide the future of these propositions, as well as a score of others, and from present indications none of the loving allied powers, great or small, seem willing to trust each other in the administration of the places in question. But all appear "ready, even eager, to let Uncle Sam hold the sack and foot the bill."

League Recent Development.

It took the United States nearly three years to get into the war and it was only when Germany dared America to fight by resuming the relentless submarine warfare in February, 1917, that the United States decided to jump in and help the allies destroy the Hun's military machine. Few Americans are satisfied that the project for a society of nations as it will emerge from the commission will not conflict with or impair the vitality of the Monroe doctrine.

There are indications that the landing of troops with hostile intent on the soil of another nation will automatically constitute a state of war between the aggressor and all the states in the society of nations unless the period of probation has expired before the landing. BOLSHEVIK ADVANCE ALONG EASTERN BORDER

In spite of the reports from Russia that the bolshevik government is willing to make peace with the allies, their aggressive moves continue along the eastern border front. The Reds also are increasing their activities in the eastern sections of Germany, according to reports received yesterday.

1—A large number of public buildings in Königsberg, East Prussia, have been seized by Reds who came from Berlin.

2—The government of East Prussia has declared a state of siege at Thorn, on the Polish border, and martial law prevails, in efforts to block the advance of the bolsheviks.

3—Vilkomir, an important city of Lithuania, has been captured by bolsheviks operating from Kovno.

4—The whole eastern part of the Ukraine is in the hands of the bolsheviks. They are in Kiev and hold the cities of Zharikov, Poltava, and Ekaterinoslav. A soviet government has been established at Zharikov.

"WAR CULPRITS, HOWEVER HIGH, MUST BE TRIED"

Attorney General of Britain Says Task Is Being Pushed.

PARIS, Feb. 4.—[British Wireless Service.]—Sir Gordon Hewart, the British attorney general and member of the committee on responsibility for the war, made a brief statement today to the press with reference to the British view of the punishment of any offenders, according to an official communique.

The British view, the attorney general said, "undoubtedly is that these offenders, however highly placed, must be made to suffer suitable punishment without any avoidable delay. Who precisely are the offenders, what offenses will be charged against them, and by what process punishment will be imposed are questions requiring most careful consideration. Nor is it convenient to discuss these questions, as many questions before the peace conference may be discussed publicly.

"The commission on offenses and punishments is really engaged in a task of criminal investigation, and for that task secrecy is no less important than dispatch.

"Three subcommittees have already been appointed to collect and examine the facts, and the other two, to consider questions of law. The foundation of the whole matter must, of course, be evidence, and in this department, as well as upon questions of law, the commission will derive much assistance from the careful and continuous labors of the committee in London appointed last November by the law officers of the crown.

"A great mass of most valuable material has already been brought together and this work is being continued without pause."

SAYS AMERICAN BUSINESS MEN SUPPORT LEAGUE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—Support for President Wilson in his advocacy of a league of nations by American business, as represented in the chamber of commerce of the United States, was pledged in a cablegram sent to the president today by Harry A. Wheeler, president of the chamber.

In making public the cablegram Mr. Wheeler announced the appointment of a committee on a league of nations which will conduct an educational campaign and ask all local members to form similar committees.

Indorsed by Peace League.

New York, Feb. 4.—Plans for an intensive campaign "to show the Paris peace conference that the people of the United States want a strong league of nations and to serve notice on the United States senate that if President Wilson brings home a peace treaty providing for such a league the people will expect its approval" were announced at a meeting of members of the League to Enforce Peace here today.

William H. Taft, president of the League to Enforce Peace, issued a statement after the meeting, asserting that it was no longer necessary to seek to convert the public to the idea of a strong league of nations.

"But a deliberately planned campaign is on," the statement declared, "intended to convince our peace commissioners and the allied nations that the rank and file of Americans do not want a league of nations, and that the senate will not ratify a treaty there puts the United States into a league."

REPRIMAND STORY CLEARED UP; CLEAN SLATE FOR CROWDER

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 4.—Discussion at the capitol of published reports that Provost Marshal Crowder had been reprimanded by Gen. March, chief of staff, led the war department to authorize a statement today that Gen. Crowder's entire military record was unimpaired, and to disclose the origin of the reprimand story.

It was stated that when the second draft was being planned Gen. March and Gen. Crowder differed over the provision for medical examinations and exchanged letters on the subject.

The language of a brief abstract of Gen. March's letter, which went to division headquarters in the course of departmental routine, was construed by Gen. Crowder as implying a reprimand, and he took the matter up with Secretary Baker. The secretary wrote in reply that he found no reprimand was intended, but that to make this clear, he had had the language to which the general objected altered.

COMMONS AGAIN OPENS SESSION; LAW PRESENT

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The house of commons reassembled this afternoon. Sir Donald Maclean, the newly elected chairman of the Asquith party; William Adamson, parliamentary chairman of the Labor party; John Clynes, former food controller; John Hodge, an expert on pensions, and Will Crooks, the labor leader, were among those on the front opposition benches. Behind them were the Asquith Liberals and members of the Labor party.

The opposition benches below the gangway were filled by the overflow of the Unionists from the ministerial benches.

A member of the war cabinet on the treasury bench was Andrew Bonar Law, lord privy seal and leader of the government forces.

Says Wilson Will Give Senate Data on League

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—During the debate in the senate today on the league of nations proposal before the peace conference, Senator Hitchcock, chairman of the foreign relations committee, said he felt sure that at the proper time and before committing the American government, President Wilson would advise the senate regarding the agreement for such a league.

Senator Borah of Idaho said he did not want to leave the impression that he referred to President Wilson's peace league plans in certain remarks he had made, and explained that he referred to the league to enforce peace headed by former President Taft.

Pegues Scores D. S. Medal for Licking 8 Foe Planes

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—Lieut. Joseph Pegues, University of Chicago athlete, who came home on the Agamemnon yesterday, was awarded a distinguished service cross for his heroism with the Ninety-fifth aero squadron, near Dun-Sur-Sonne, Nov. 5.

On account of heavy clouds and mist, Lieut. Pegues became detached from his formation. While endeavoring to find it he came upon eight hostile planes, which were maneuvering to attack four allied planes.

With great courage and skill he passed through the formation, and attacking its leader, dispersed the formation.

MANN FAVORS BUDGET BOARD

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—Representative Mann of Illinois, the Republican leader, introduced a resolution in the house today providing for the appointment of a congressional committee of six senators and six representatives to recommend legislation for a uniform method of appropriating money for government expenditures. The measure carries an appropriation of $100,000 for the committee's expenses.

COBLENZ YANKS DOFF TAN SHOES FOR SHINY BLACK

Necessity for Polishing Alters U. S. Uniform on the Rhine.

BY PARKE BROWN.

COBLENZ, Feb. 3, via Paris, Feb. 4.—They may not harmonize too well with the olive drab uniform and the roll leggings, but Buck Private Bill Jones is mighty well pleased with his black shoes. And so are several thousand brothers in arms who followed his example.

Some officers left no doubt as to their displeasure at this nonregulation bit of wearing apparel, but black doesn't come off easily and in most cases is even allowed to remain. For it meant black shoes or no new shoes at all. They are merely the heavy, rough, thick-soled shoes that the men wore in the trenches. The smooth side of the leather is inside and so the exterior is not amenable to the ordinary Russian polish.

Shining Parlor Opened.

The black puts on a sort of enamel that glistens in fine style and the boys say that now they are on garrison duty they must make a better appearance than in the field. But the number of shoe transformations would have been so great had not the boche opened at Coblenz several parlors called "American style."

Right there, sitting on an ordinary chair, one foot on each high on a wooden shoe rest, Bill Jones had a gray haired German frau blacking shoes for one mark, which is about thirteen cents in American money. The blacking has proved more popular than the almost graceless and totally ineffective tan polish, so on the shine shops on Schloss Strasse there are signs out: "Come in and get a good boot-black."

Will Transform Army.

"And if it isn't stopped soon the whole blamed army of occupation, except the officers, will be going around with black shoes, just like the navy," an indignant infantryman said.

CHARGE GERMAN PULL STRINGS OF BERNE MEETING

Americans Say Berlin Seeks to Evade Just Debt to Allies.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—[Delayed.]—The Berne Socialist conference, to which many Socialist bodies in Europe have failed to send representatives, is the outcome of a German plan to help Germany retrieve her military defeat and escape the payment of just indemnities, in the belief of Charles Edvard Russell and William English Walling, speaking in behalf of the Social Democratic League of the United States.

Messrs. Russell and Walling tonight gave out the following statement on the subject in the name of the league: "As delegates of our organization we decline to go to Berne because, despite the pretension that the world's laboring classes are represented there, its principal movers are those in all countries who try to cause peace when it would have meant the triumph of imperialism and the ruin of the working class democracy.

Few Allies Represented.

"We note that British trades unions, American labor, and Italian, and Belgian Socialist majorities are not represented, and that forty Socialists in the French chamber of deputies allowed their delegates to go only under protest.

"We also note that one-third of the delegates are recognized by the bolsheviks as sympathetic with their doctrines.

"We believe the Berne conference is designed by Germany to redeem her from military defeat and avoid the payment of a just indemnity by intrigue and secret diplomacy."

French and Germans Clash.

BERNE, Feb. 4.—A violent rhetorical duel between the French and German socialists marked the second sitting last night of the international labor and Socialist conference.

Otto Weiss, the former military commander of Berlin, defended the German position and said the German Socialists already had settled the question of responsibility for the war in having taken all power from the princes and kings.

Weils accused Great Britain of having killed 700,000 German women, children and old men by the "hunger blockade."

Eisner Defends Party.

Kurt Eisner in his address insisted on unity of German socialism.

"We have become new men in Germany," he said. "The result of the elections is not approval of the war policy of the majority party. It is a probation of a desire to unite."

Eisner said that it was clear where responsibility for the war rested.

"It was with the Prussian officers, supported by German captains of industry and bankers," he said. "The majority Socialists must not come here as penitents, but simply to say whether they have recognized that they have committed an error."

Maria Theresa, Former Queen of Bavaria, Dies

BASLE, Feb. 4.—Former Queen Maria Theresa of Bavaria died last night at the Chateau Wildenhart, according to a dispatch from Munich today.

ASSERTS BELGIAN SCHELDT CLAIM IS 100 YEARS OLD

Head of Alliance in U. S. Cites History as Proof.

Belgium, in asking the peace conference for the left bank of the Scheldt river and the peninsula of Maestricht, is seeking only what it has insisted, for more than 100 years, it should have," Felix J. Streycckmans, president of the Belgian-American national alliance declared last night. Mr. Streycckmans cited a history, written by Charles White in 1835, to bear out his contention that the claim Belgium intends to make is just.

Mr. Streycckmans said: "An Associated Press dispatch from Paris today, giving the territorial claims of the allies, states 'Belgium will ask among other things, the left bank of the Scheldt and the peninsula of Maestricht which protrudes into Belgian Limburg.' The dispatch further states 'Belgium will assert to a plebiscite in Luxembourg to decide whether that country wishes to join Belgium or France or to retain autonomy.'

"The dispatch is interesting to Belgians because of a blood feud between the army of occupation in Luxembourg includes the Thirty-third division, largely made up of Chicago troops.

Maestricht Strategic Position.

"A glance at the map will show why the peninsula of Maestricht is claimed. This strip of land runs down from Holland into Belgium and would prevent a proper defense against invasion from the east.

"Had the Belgians been in possession of the left bank of the Scheldt the war might have been shortened. As it was no allied troops could go to the aid of Antwerp by water without violating Holland's neutrality. Antwerp is isolated, because it must be reached by way of the Scheldt, which runs through Holland before it reaches Antwerp.

"Although Belgium secured independence through a bloody conflict with Holland in 1830, the best of relations now exist between the two countries. The Belgians are thankful for the aid and assistance rendered Belgium in Holland during the war and are claiming now only what they insisted they should have nearly one hundred years ago.

"Luxemburg Belgium's Child."

"Limburg and Luxemburg were divided between Holland and Belgium. Belgium gave up half of Limburg and was given half of Luxemburg. She today seeks to obtain the other half. It broke and old men by the 'hunger blockade.'

"The left bank of the Scheldt is shown on all old maps as belonging to Flanders, now Belgium. Luxemburg as a part of Belgium will do much to prevent recurrence of invasions like that of 1914. Free access to Antwerp by water from the west through the Scheldt, will do much in placing Belgium where she belongs as a nation and will render her more secure against invasion by land.

"Belgium, by her heroic stand, has earned today what she was unable to obtain at the time of her birth."

Lorgnettes Came Before Noseglasses

Most people think the lorgnette is a distinctly modern convenience.

As a matter of fact, they came before noseglasses, as shown by European collections.

Methods of keeping spectacles on were crude and faulty at first. So someone fixed them on a handle, and the lorgnette was born.

Noseglasses appeared early in the seventeenth century. Noseglass devices have been appearing ever since.

Some are firm, but unsightly. Some are both steady and becoming, but displace the lense. But some hold the glasses securely in the proper place and are good-looking as well.

Eye-glasses must be selected with regard to the wearer. Almer Coe & Company, Eyeglass Service is distinguished for care and skill in doing this.

Coal Ration for

Pictures of similar wire from Budapest show the snowfall, railway communication and food supply of the province is worse than in the revolution. While no coal is a houses for heating, the thing is fixed at forty. Even this is largely a speculation.

I have spoken to here who, after war hours, have returned with empty bellies successive days.

All Court Q

There is perhaps no these days who is mated by the housewife. Many a woman has weeks of experience that a handful of calories of bread were of winning the heart of Vienna and Austria. In the hotels each one bath a week, while homes bathing is still a yard of gas a dum dum amuse the Whenever the meter consumption the gas off.

All of the public including the popular a standstill. This, scarcity and terrible cause of working and the spread of disease.

Schools Closed

As a result of the primary and secondary schools closed from time to time of Vienna at students an indefinite same reason.

Probably the chief reason for the closure in Hungary and Austria is the demand for an increase in the number of the police. The bolsheviks are so numerous that the step in and scatter a bloody street battle when a group of national guard reached the policemen. The demonstrators and the arrested were taken into custody.

It was found that those arrested were workmen but members of the party. Four hundred were arrested. Later eight soldiers were taken into custody having plotted an attack.

COLD AND HUNGER GRASP AUSTRIA; IDLENESS RULES

Severe Winter Brings Dire Results; Reds Gain Profit.

BY LADISLAV CZAPSKI.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
[By Special Cable.]

VIENNA, Feb. 1, via Bern to Paris, Feb. 4.—Never since the dual monarchy's smashup were its two capitals made to eat so plentifully of the fruits of defeat as at the present moment when, after many weeks of mild weather, which has helped them endure the virtual absence of coal, the inhabitants of Vienna and Budapest are suddenly faced with a bitter life and death fight against the severest rigors of winter.

The people of both cities are literally freezing to death. This morning Vienna's populace awoke to find the metropolis icebound. At the same time the supply of coal from Upper Silesia and Styria continues to come in at a rate of a hundred carloads a day, which is only a drop in the ocean compared to the city's requirements.

Moreover, for heating, 95 per cent of this coal is practically useless, as it is brown lignite with a heavy admixture of clay.

All Streets Are Empty.

Intense is the cold today that at 5 o'clock, when the shops and department stores were closed, most of the main thoroughfares around the opera, among them Kearnthner street, Vienna's Broadway, were empty of pedestrians.

To leave the street means only to enter a house which is no warmer, as neither for love nor money can any one secure enough coal to heat the dwellings and hotels.

As I write this my feet are wrapped up in my overcoat. Others who work in their rooms at the hotels have the same trouble, many of them wearing heavy fur coats at their desks and meals.

The minor officials in the ministerial offices beg to be allowed to work longer hours, as their lodgings are unheated and they have not sufficient means to spend the evenings in the big cafes in the downtown district, where a cup of poor coffee costs from 4 to 6 crowns.

Go to Bed to Get Warm.

To get anything like a vivid sense of the misery to which the city is reduced one must wander about after dark in the narrow dirty streets in the outskirts. During a two hours' walk I have not seen a single window reflecting the warm glow from a fireplace.

For most of working people beds afford the only shelter from the stiff cold which is having with the badly clothed and wretchedly fed men and women in the streets. At frequent intervals I found beggars and aged and homeless women suffering weakly under the weight of a house.

Rich and poor alike suffer from the clammy which rouses more comment in the Vienna newspapers and forms a more engrossing topic of conversation in private dwellings and cafes than approaching elections to the Austrian constituent assembly and the doings of the peace delegates at Paris together.

Coal Ration for Cooking.

Pictures of similar misery come over the wire from Budapest where, owing to the heavy snowfall of the past week, railway communication with the coal and food supply centers throughout the province is worse than it had ever been since the revolution.

While no coal is allowed to private houses for heating, the ration for cooking is fixed at forty pounds a week. Even this is largely a matter of official calculation.

I have spoken to Americans living here who, after waiting in line for hours, have returned to their homes with empty baskets for eight or nine successive days.

All Court Coolman.

There is perhaps no person in Vienna these days who is more sedulously petted by the housewives than the coolman. One woman told me that, after weeks of experimenting, she found that a handful of cigars and a few slices of bread were the surest means of winning the heart of her coolman.

In the hotels each guest is allowed one bath a week, while in the private houses bathing is entirely taboo, one cubic yard of gas a day being the maximum amount any household can use. Whenever the meters show a greater consumption the gas is promptly cut off.

All of the public bathing houses, including the popular Dianabad, are at a standstill. This, coupled with the scarcity and terrific prices of soap, causes a striking uncleanness among the working classes, not to mention the spread of diseases.

Schools Closed by the Cold.

As a result of the lack of coal the primary and secondary schools are closed from time to time. The University of Vienna at present is giving its students an indefinite holiday for the same reason.

Probably the chief peril in this connection lurks in the fact that, both in Hungary and Austria, hundreds of thousands and business concerns have been shut down, while others are closing in large numbers every day.

Vienna alone now has more than one hundred thousand unemployed, who afford excellent material for the bolshevik agitation, as was shown yesterday, when several thousand gathered in one of the principal streets in response to the Communist leaders' demand for an increase of the unemployed allowance paid by the state. The bolshevik speakers became so inflammatory that the police were forced to step in and scatter the crowd.

A bloody street battle was imminent when a group of soldiers of the national guard reached the spot and fired the policemen from the gang of desperadoes and arrested thirty-eight of the demonstrators.

It was found that, for the most part, those arrested were not unemployed workmen but members of the Communist party. Four among those arrested carried loaded pistols and others were armed with heavy knives.

Later eight soldiers of the Red guard were taken into custody, charged with having plotted an outbreak of terror.

A TRAVELING ROMANCE

Begins in San Francisco and Touches Chicago, France, New York and Camp Merritt.

Major John B. Carlock—Miss Sidney Whiteside

Here is a romance of spots far apart, and may they live happily forever after. They met at eight-seers at the Panama-Pacific exposition in San Francisco. He plied his suit in Chicago and it prospered.

The call of war came and he chose chemical warfare, being a chemical expert, and sailed away. In France he earned his Croix de Guerre. He came back a major and she rushed to the dock to meet him.

A rude "M. P." meaning military police, brushed her roughly back. The major, learning, sent her word: "Meet me at Camp Merritt." Then he turned and asked: "Say, where can I get a license. I've got to have a marriage license in three hours." The major didn't get the license in three hours. It was only issued yesterday. The engagement was announced fourteen months ago, just before he sailed for France. He fought in the Argonne and at Chateau Thierry.

The young woman is Miss Sidney Whiteside, daughter of Mrs. L. L. Whiteside, 208 East Fifty-sixth street, Chicago. The officer is Maj. John B. Carlock of the First gas regiment. Previous to his enlistment he was the representative of a large chemical house.

He is now in Washington, where she went expecting to find her father ill. He was dead when she arrived.

This telegram and a letter to Miss Wong from her father was found by a friend of Miss Wong, who was looking through her effects in answer to a request from Miss Wong that certain things be sent to her. The letter bore out the theory raised by the telegram. Among other things, it said: "If anything happens to me turn to Miss Me Ting." Miss Me Ting is the friend Miss Wong asked to send her effects to Washington.

VICTIM OF RUNAWAY DIES.

Carl Erwin, 77, of the German Old People's home, died at the Oak Park hospital last night as a result of being run down by a runaway team in River Forest yesterday afternoon.

Need Not Pay Rent.

The bolshevik leader, Bela Kun, and his lieutenants have decreed that, beginning today, no unemployed workmen need pay rent or lodging, at the same time threatening any homeowner who attempts to remove such lodger or tenant with complete demolition of his property. The Social Democrats protested sharply against such procedure, pointing out that even Lenin has denounced communism of that sort.

While I have no information yet as to what the immediate results of Bela Kun's mandate were, it is reported here that it was determined to abide by his plan.

Here and in Budapest the Socialists defend the unemployment allowance against the allegation that in this way not only is the state being bled white but that the scheme is calculated to encourage idleness on a large scale. It is significant, however, that when the mayor of Vienna called for 10,000 workers to shovel snow, hardly 700 applied for the jobs. It is likewise characteristic that the unemployed workmen prefer to take 10 or 15 crowns from the state for doing nothing than to do a day's work for only 6 or 8 crowns.

HOUSE REFUSED TEXT OF WILSON NAVAL MESSAGE

Turmoil Marks Start of Work on Bill of $750,000,000.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—[Special.]—Demands from representatives for the full text of President Wilson's cablegram urging support of the three year naval expansion program threw the house into a turmoil today.

A published statement that the president had said that failure of the plan "would be fatal to my negotiations" was responsible for the debate. Representative Padgett of Tennessee, chairman of the naval affairs committee, denied that the quotation was exactly accurate, but declined to furnish the text.

The house began consideration of the $750,000,000 bill which was reported unanimously from the committee following the receipt of the president's cablegram.

Representative Butler of Pennsylvania, ranking Republican member of the committee, said he did not agree with many features of the bill, but was with it because of what the president had communicated to the committee. He intimated, however, that the naval program was partly bluff and said he believed it would not help the situation in Europe one bit.

Padgett Tells of Message.

"The secretary of the navy called the president," Mr. Padgett said, "and asked him if anything had happened over there—I am giving it in substance—that would change his recommendation as to the three year program, and the president called back in substance that he had not changed his mind; that he still insisted and desired very earnestly the three year program."

"Was the alleged quotation that failure to adhere to the three year building program 'would be fatal to my negotiations,' intimating that the United States had only one negotiator over there, accurate?" Mr. Gillett asked.

"No, sir; that was not accurate," Mr. Padgett replied. Later in denying a point blank request that the house be given the full cablegram Mr. Padgett qualified his statement by saying "that the words quoted were not correct as they were quoted."

"I will not give the words," Mr. Padgett said, "but the president was very earnest and very insistent that the three year program be carried out."

Did President Say "Fatal"?

"Did the president in his cablegram use the word 'fatal'?" asked Representative Rogers of Massachusetts.

Mr. Padgett again refused to quote the exact language of the cable.

"Does not the gentleman think," Mr. Rogers asked, "that at a critical time like this, the house should have all the information in reference to a policy concerning the American people, which the committee on naval affairs has, in order to enable it to make up its mind?"

"All I can say is," Mr. Padgett replied, "that the critical time is not limited to here; it is over there also. And it would not be proper for me to give the words that were used. I will not give the words."

Disarmament and Big Navy.

In reply to a question by Representative Graham of Illinois, Mr. Padgett said the president's cablegram was "the one reason this report here is unanimous."

"It does not seem conceivable to me," said Representative Campbell of Kansas, "that the man who is leading the program of disarmament should have a policy concerning the American people, which the committee on naval affairs has, in order to enable it to make up its mind?"

"These matters were submitted to the president," replied Mr. Padgett, "and the president insists that we shall go ahead with the building program—the three year program."

"Is it the intention that congress," Mr. Campbell pressed, "should give this authorization for an increased naval establishment for the purpose of enabling the president to hold that over those with whom he is now in consultation? Is it a threat?"

"There was no expression or indication of any such purpose in his cablegram," Mr. Padgett replied.

Mr. Ann of Illinois, Republican floor leader, insisted that the house was entitled to the facts before acting.

"Does the gentleman know whether the building program is intended in any way to influence the president's negotiations?" asked Representative Temple of Pennsylvania.

"I am not prepared to answer that question," Mr. Padgett replied.

REDS OF BERLIN SEIZE BUILDINGS AT KOENIGSBERG

Quiet Exists at Weimar as Officials Come for Assembly.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 4.—A majority of the government buildings in Koenigsberg, East Prussia, have been seized by Spartans from Berlin. The governor of East Prussia has declared a state of siege in the Thurn district and instituted courts martial.

Quiet Exists in Weimar.

BERLIN, Monday, Feb. 3.—[By the Associated Press.]—The situation at Weimar, where the German national assembly is to meet on Thursday, is showing marked improvement. The action of the local soldiers' council in returning to the vanguard of the government troops the arms that were taken from the force on its arrival here yesterday is regarded as an indication that the local revolutionary body does not propose to permit the situation to become acute, especially as public sentiment is showing itself opposed to radical action. The members of the imperial government, who arrived Monday, they took up their residence in the palace and later held a cabinet meeting.

New Armistice Delegate.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 4.—Gen. Baron von Hammerstein, according to a dispatch from Berlin, has been appointed to succeed Gen. von Winterfeldt as the leading military delegate on the German armistice commission.

Gen. von Winterfeldt resigned Jan. 27 on the allegation that his dignity had been offended. The identity of Gen. von Hammerstein is uncertain. A Gen. Baron Louis von Hammerstein-Lortzen, a veteran army officer, has been governor general of the invalid home for soldiers in Berlin since 1914.

New Government at Bremen.

BERLIN, Feb. 4.—[By the Associated Press.]—The communist party declared their readiness to resign and form a new government, to be composed of men from all the Socialist parties on the basis of the vote cast in the election. The armed workmen have agreed to surrender their arms to the soldiers' councils of Hamburg and Bremen.

HOLDS WILSON DID NOT SEND TROTSKY RADIO

PARIS, Feb. 4.—President Wilson had nothing to do with the transmission of the reply of M. Louquet to bolshevik Foreign Minister Tchitcherine concerning bolshevik participation in the proposed Princes island conference, according to M. Louquet's newspaper, Populaire. M. Louquet had received a semi-official statement from the bolshevik government concerning the conference and the French government refused to permit the use of its wireless in sending a reply.

"The refusal of the French government," says the article, "to allow us to communicate freely with Russia compelled us to use another form of transmission without being compelled to undergo the censorship which we combat."

"Whose fault is it if a press wire sent from Paris to New York, is received by all wireless stations, including that at Tientsin? So long as the Russian soviet government will take 'all measures' to bring about an agreement with the entente, according to a wireless message sent out from Moscow on Sunday."

As illustrating the character of the Weimar soldiers' council, it may be mentioned that a few weeks ago several members taught the former Grand Duke Wilhelm a rather cruel, if well deserved, lesson.

Wilhelm had come to visit Weimar from his country seat in the neighborhood on a sunny day. He passed several wounded soldiers he remarked to his noble companion:

"Will these swine infest the public parks forever?"

This remark was overheard by a member of the soldiers' council, who called his comrades and following the grand duke gave him a sound thrashing, applying the whip to the grand duke back amid the applause of many of his former subjects, who quickly gathered. Wilhelm was always one of the most hated German princes, which is saying much.

A marriage license was granted yesterday to H. Percy Ward, the lecturer, and Miss Kathryn Enright, concerning whom a strange story was revealed in the Morals court Monday.

Whether or not they will appear as man and wife to face charges in court tomorrow is not known, as Ward refused to talk and Miss Enright could not be found.

It was said yesterday the Hotel La Strain had requested Ward to move as the result of the alleged use of a whip by a woman upon him in his room at the hotel. Miss Enright had left the Groveland hotel and arranged for a leave of absence as office manager of a cloak house on Market street.

STEEL COMPANY DROPS FIGHT ON LABOR BOARD

Bethlehem Will Recognize Authority of Federal Organization.

New York, Feb. 4.—The Bethlehem Steel company, which recently refused to recognize the authority of the National War Labor board, has reconsidered and pledged "loyal cooperation in carrying through the two important measures with which the finding of the board dealt," according to a statement issued by the board here tonight.

The board announced that it would take no further action in the Bethlehem case until the company has an opportunity "to make good its promises and to test the practical character of its proposals."

Ask Collective Bargaining.

The awards which the company had refused to recognize directed it to work out a collective bargaining agreement with a committee of employees elected under the board's supervision, and to grant a "retroactive" wage increase. The board offered to cooperate with the company.

The hitch between the steel company and the board resulted last November, when E. G. Grace, president of the company, wrote the board that as the armistice had been signed the company did not feel it was longer bound by the board's earlier award.

Award Wage Increases.

The war labor board also announced today awards of wage increases to employees of the Louisville (Ky.) Railway company, the St. Joseph (Mo.) Railway, Light, and Power company, and the Cleveland and Erie Traction company of Girard, Pa., and recommended that the Jacksonville (Fla.) Traction company permit its employees to organize.

IRISH CHIEFTAIN ESCAPES FROM BRITISH PRISON

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Prof. Edward de Valera, the Sinn Fein leader, and Milroy and McGarry, also Sinn Fein members of parliament, escaped from the prison at Lincoln last night, according to a dispatch from Lincoln to the Evening News.

Apparently, the dispatch adds, the three key to the back door was thrown over the prison walls to the Sinn Fein men. It was then an easy matter for the trio to walk out to a waiting automobile, which took them toward the coast.

A dispatch to the Central News from Dublin says it is definitely stated there that all the Sinn Fein men interned in England will be released Monday morning.

SHERMAN RAILS AT WILSON-FORD IDEALIST DUET

Senate Convulsed Over Shafts Hurlled by Illinois Man.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—(Special.)—With President Wilson and Henry Ford as his targets, Senator Sherman of Illinois addressed the senate today on the subject "Superman versus Self-Government," and for nearly three hours kept his colleagues interested and amused as he hurled his sarcastic shafts at the chief executive and Detroit automobile manufacturer.

"The president, in going abroad, revealed the grossest egotism," and an inability "to resist the lure of the limelight," Senator Sherman said, which the average man looks upon with "unmistakable disgust."

Pointing out that Americans are fighting and enduring hardships in many climes, Senator Sherman said, while they risk their lives and endure hardships in alien lands, our president spends nine weeks in ceremony, pageants, and visiting with kings in his stately palaver, while affairs in his own drift.

Gas Engine Savant.
The senator applied many picturesque descriptive touches to Henry Ford. He characterized him as "that singular megalomaniac," an "astonishing creature," "the angel of Rosa Schommer" and "a gas engine savant, getting into the United States senate to his fit works."

"Mooney's and Ford's hearts beat as one" in the anti-preparedness campaign, Senator Sherman declared. He reminded the senate how Mr. Ford kept preparedness.

"Do these kindred thoughts have any relation to the president's persistent meddling with the Mooney case in California?" Senator Sherman said. "Mooney practiced what Ford preached. How much Ford's crusade paralyzed preparedness cannot be measured. We heard its echoes when Haig fought with his back to the wall. Within the limits of his power and money, Ford put us into the war with Germany with his soldiers, no transports, no guns and no airplanes."

The Graves He Filled.
"How many graves he filled can never be told. Mooney and his accomplices sent ten citizens to their graves and forty wounded to the hospital as his protest against preparedness. It must have seemed a ghastly inconsistency to the president to have Mooney and send Ford to the United States senate."

Senator Sherman drew many comparisons between President Wilson's views and those of Mr. Ford. The Wilson campaign posters in 1916 showed him every billboard the same man. His drive as Ford's advertisements for reforming the world," the senator said. "The human mind is negligible, the pocket and stomach dominate," he continued, declaring Mr. Ford's grasp of public affairs could be measured "by his peace ark voyage and the exemption of his son Edsel from military service when thousands of the best of our race were voluntarily offering their lives for the country Ford slandered before the war."

The senator charged that the department of agriculture suppressed a report made on the Fordson tractor by one of its experts sent to Detroit to investigate it. Senator Sherman took occasion here to pay his respects to

Secretary of Agriculture Houston, who, he said, was raised "under the tutelage of Burleson, who got his start in cotton raised by convict labor."

HITS AT PRESIDENT
"The president, Senator Sherman said, 'has long appealed to groups and classes to govern the country. He is chief magistrate and superman by virtue of an usurping minority. He runs true to form by developing the plan to which he owes his election. Nothing but the grossest of egotism took him to the peace conference, where no executive of any other civilized power sits. He cannot resist the lure of the limelight. The groups to which he panders applaud and the average man looks on in silent but undisguised disgust.'

Takes No Chances.
"When he became a candidate by executive order, the president neglected to specify that primary ticket he must run on so he took no chances, and ran on all of them."

"Somewhere there was a misunderstanding. It was agreed and Mr. Ford proclaimed last fall there was no partisanship. Party schismoloths during the war were extinct, except among professional politicians, and for them Henry expressed a profound contempt. He had absolutely no sense of Limitation on his own power in politics to do whatever pleased him.

Appeals to Wilson.
"This self-sufficiency commended him to the president, who insists on having men about him who can do anything, even in defiance of the laws of nature and of common sense. So he entered the campaign scoring politics and breathing lofty aspirations. Away he went aboard a nonpartisan Oscar II, voyaging the autumn seas toward the November election."

Those Eagle Boats.
Senator Sherman had this to say of the Eagle boats:
"Instead of one a day turned out and ninety-three done by Dec. 15, 1918, seven Eagles emerged from Henry's nest, and they could neither fly, run, nor swim. Why the government poured millions of taxes into this useless venture is a mystery; we hope it may be illuminated by Ford when he cashes in on his contract."

FATTENING THE REDS
Mr. Ford's reported scheme for curing bolshevism in Russia was described by Senator Sherman thus:
"President Wilson says bolshevism

BEAUTY EDITOR GIVES BUSINESS GIRLS GOOD NEWS

Swift Club Hears the Things It Wants to Hear; Ah, Yes!

BY MAUDE MARTIN EVERS.
The beauty editor of THE TRIBUNE, Miss Antonette Donnelly, was the center of attraction last night at Swift & Co.'s club, 4100 Michigan boulevard. Every Tuesday night the girls, old and young, who are employed by the Swift concern gather for an evening's uplift. Some elevating subject is chosen, a speaker is produced, and behold the eager minds struggling up and beyond into purer and more rarified atmosphere. Forgotten is the plodding 8:30 till 5, and "Miss Smith, please do not eat your lunch during business hours—the crumbs spoil the boss's near-brussels rug."

Why the Hall Was Packed.
Now you see why the hall was packed last night and why every ear was strained and necks held at a tense angle of 45 degrees during the whole twenty-five minutes of Miss Donnelly's priceless message.

For she is a beauty editor—ah, yes!—and here we connect 'loosely with business."

Miss Donnelly swept with a proud, duchessy air up to the platform, leaned negligently upon the what you call it, assumed her latest easy attitude for public speaking, and held forth upon the dangerous effects of rouge in the office (to the chagrin of course.)

The Inutile White Blouse.
She urged the ladies of the business world to look their best six days a week, to lay aside the aged habit of saving the choicest garment for Sunday wear, or perhaps a party.

Trickily she, Miss Donnelly, brought in and laid bare, the utility of the long-accepted tailored white blouse, exposing the amazing laundry bill it engenders, and wisely advising in its stead the plain, but dainty serge dress, brightened by the dainty collar and cuff set. This simple dress, she declared, has come to be the uniform of the personable business woman.

The young lady who dashes up to the time clock sparsely covered with a film of cobweb, sometimes known as the peek-a-boo waist, is an ally of the H. C. L. For her décolleté neck and elbow sleeves the heat pressure has to be doubled, oftenes trebled.

Confidential.
The entire wardrobe of the business girl was explained minutely by this sagacious Beauty-Ed, coming down to the boudoir secrets, and here Miss Donnelly lowered her voice confidentially and became quite coy. Thereupon a gentleman—the only one of his kind present—fumbled cautiously for his hat and sneaked out.

Surely the beauty specialist's evening was a rare triumph. For uplift and the monotony of toil-tut, tut! But was applied to him [Ford] he would melt like a power dollar."

SWEARS O'LEARY SOUGHT CASH OF VON BERNSTORFF

New York, Feb. 4.—(Testimony that the aid of Count von Bernstorff had been sought to provide funds for the establishment of Jeremiah A. O'Leary's magazine, Bull, was offered today at the trial in federal court of O'Leary and three of his associates on charges of violating the espionage act.

Rudolph Cronau, an American citizen of German birth, testified that O'Leary approached him in 1914 with a proposal for the establishment of a periodical to put before the American people "the true principles of Americanism."

O'Leary, he testified, suggested that Bernstorff might assist with funds.

Cronau said he eventually visited Bernstorff and sought financial aid for the publication and that he later reported to O'Leary that Bernstorff had turned the matter over to Dr. Bernhard Dernberg, who decided adversely. The witness said he could not recall whether he asked Bernstorff for $15,000 or $25,000.

MASON, BRITTEN CALL "SECURITY" FACTION LEAGUE

Congressmen Tell Probe Committee Politics Ruled Acts.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—(Special.)—Testifying before the house committee which is investigating the National Security league, Representative Mason and Britten of Chicago today accused the Chicago branch of the league of playing factional politics.

Both congressmen declared that the league, so far as that city was concerned, was an auxiliary of the corrupt faction of the Republican party and that its indorsements were used to aid the candidates of that faction in the primaries. After failing to win in the primaries they said the league lost all interest in those particular contests on election day.

Mason Hints at Bribe.
Representative Mason charged that he had been given to understand that opposition to him would be withdrawn if he issued a statement favoring the traction ordinance, which was up for approval at the election. He refused to give the name of the person who had asked his support for the traction ordinance.

Representative Britten referred to Samuel Insull as actuated by pro-British feelings, and declared Edgar A. Bancroft as a "corporation cootie."

"The opposition of the Chicago branch of the league came from men born in England, or connected with corporations making profits out of the war," said Mr. Britten. "Samuel Insull was once referred to by a London paper as the most prominent 'fish' in America. Up to last year he ate every Christmas dinner in England."

"Corporation Cootie."
"Edgar A. Bancroft, a corporation cootie, represents the International Harvester company and several other corporations. His headquarters were in the war."

Mr. Britten took exception to the testimony of Emil C. Wetten before the committee in Chicago that there was disloyalty in the Britten district.

"When Wetten says there is disloyalty in my district he is a fool, a liar, or an undesirable citizen," said Mr. Britten.

NEWMAN CALLS HODGE PURE IN SPEEDWAY DEAL

C. W. Hare, Rejector of Hines Plan, Admits
Two Salaries.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—[Special.]—Attorney Jacob Newman of Chicago was on the stand before the senate subcommittee investigating the Speedway project today. He was questioned by E. D. Adcock, counsel for J. Milton Trainer, regarding his previous statements to the effect that Samuel Hodge had asked a commission in connection with the hospital project, but which he had subsequently retracted.

He told, in a general way, that he had held a conference with Hodge and the latter's counsel, Conrad Poppo, and had advised Hodge against receiving a commission. He said Hodge was grateful for the advice.

Tells of Warning.

In the course of his story he told of matters leading up to the meeting. "I came to Washington to have a talk with Hodge. That resulted from an extraordinary incident that happened to me two or three nights before, about 10 o'clock at night. I was returning home from a meeting of the Kenwood council of defense. Just as I had reached my front yard a man tapped me on the shoulder. I did not know him. He said, 'Is your name Newman?' I said 'Yes,' and then he said, 'THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has discovered that the Shank company is going to pay a commission to some government officers in connection with the Speedway project.' I asked him where he had heard that and he answered, 'never mind.' He said that he had been told to warn me.

Talked to Gen. Goethals.

During the examination of Newman Attorney Adcock elicited from Edward Hines the admission that he had called on Gen. Goethals after Newman's previous appearance before the committee and had explained to the general that his attorney was mistaken in saying that Samuel Hodge had solicited a bribe in connection with the Speedway.

Reference was made to the testimony of Louis Pitcher of Chicago, the G. A. R. veteran who had gone to Newman to protest against connecting the name of Trainer & Clark with the Speedway scandal.

Pitcher testified before Maj. Stotesbury about his conversation with Newman, and Adcock asked Newman today whether he thought Pitcher had done anything improper or had been sent by either Clark or Trainer to influence him. Newman replied that he did not think that Pitcher had done anything improper.

Hare Draws Two Salaries.

C. W. Hare, who acted as assistant to Assistant Secretary of War Crowell in handling construction matters, told the committee today that he is assistant director of munitions. "What salary do you get from the government?" asked Senator France. "Four thousand dollars a year," replied Hare.

"Do you get any other salary?" "I get $15,000 from the United Gas Improvement company; they keep me on the pay roll," replied Hare.

"Has the United Gas company any contracts with the war department?" asked the senator.

"I do not know. It sells fuel oil to

Thorne Gives Figures to Show Illinois Needs in Care of the Mentally Defective

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 4.—[Special.]—Senators and representatives of Illinois repudiated instantaneously the demand of the crisis affecting the feeble minded of the state. The statement in "The Tribune" this morning under the signature of Director Thorne, of the department of public welfare has centered the interest of the legislature upon the critical situation that exists and it is only a question of weeks and means that can be developed through the cooperation of the legislature and Director Thorne's department whereby unspeakable conditions can be eliminated.

The legislature is prepared to go to any extent in doing its part, regardless of cost, in view of statements today of senate and house leaders. The department of public welfare has its proposed legislation ready to present when the session reconvenes next week. Meaning, the department prepares quietly to move a substantial percentage of inmates in the overcrowded Lincoln institution to more commodious quarters at Dixon. Relatives and friends of those at Lincoln may rest assured, according to Director Thorne's statement that every possible precaution is being taken to insure physical safety during the immediate winter. The general condition of affairs in the state with respect to the feeble minded and the "morons" is further emphasized in this statement from Director Thorne.

BY CHARLES H. THORNE.

(Director State Department of Public Welfare.)

The feeble minded criminal is at last being placed in the limelight, which is a most hopeful sign of progress. It is time, because with all of the wild and terrifying statements, the truth has not been half told.

The old fact is that the problem is greater than are the facilities of society to cope with it by present methods.

Feeble mindedness represents a structural brain defect and is incurable, unimprovable, and degenerative. In general terms the feeble minded may be classified as:

Idiot—those who know nothing whatever and are as helpless as a new born baby.

Imbeciles—who range from ability to feed themselves to ability to find their way about.

Morons—who range from simpletons to subnormal or borderline cases.

Morons the Great Menace.

The idiot and imbecile can be recognized at sight and are not a menace because they can be cared for only in institutions and rapidly move at an early age into their custody. It is the moron without judgment, the government, which goes into the manufacture of explosives, it may have other contracts."

Superior Didn't Know.

"Did your superior in the war department know that you were getting a salary from the gas company?" he was asked.

"No, I don't think so, but I do not see anything wrong in that," replied the witness.

By his volubility in explaining his reasons for "exercising his judgment" and rejecting the Speedway hospital proposition Hare irritated the committee so much that Senator Hardwick finally exclaimed:

"You go so fast and are so full of yourself you can't listen to anybody else."

Secretary Baker has been asked to appear tomorrow. Two of the Hines witnesses, Albert De W. Erskine and Richard E. Schmidt, who were wanted for cross-examination by Trainer's counsel, have suddenly disappeared and it is said they have returned to Chicago.

who is both the direct and the indirect menace to society; direct because from them are recruited the prostitutes, mothers of illegitimate children and sex perverts; indirect, because they are prolific and certain breeders of their own kind. Once in the blood the menace is contagious, for even the normal child of a feeble-minded parent may become the parent of feeble-minded children, or the condition may not reappear before the grandchildren or great grandchildren.

Hard to Recognize.

The high grade moron is often not recognized by outward and visible signs, the chief characteristics being inability to judge accurately between cause and effect, and it is from this class that we get the gun man, the joy rider and all sorts of violent criminals. They are but children grown up, having the adult's body, appetites, and passions, without any power or desire to control or inhibit them.

Not all morons are criminals and we need consider directly dangerous only those who show traits of behavior which may lead to disaster to themselves or others. Unfortunately we have no present means of ascertaining those of vicious tendencies before the commission of delinquency or crime.

The following gives the latest estimates of feeble mindedness and mental deficiency based upon the report of Dr. A. J. Rosanoff (made in 1916 for the national committee for mental hygiene) which contains probably the most accurate figures of feeble mindedness on mental deficiency. Dr. Rosanoff made an accurate census of the entire population, above school age, of the country of New York in New York state. This country was selected as being typical of the state as regards proportion of urban and rural dwellers, immigrants, stable residents, etc. The population was 1,161,927. The definite abnormality per 100,000 was:

Idiotism	34.10
Feeble mindedness	646.5
Epilepsy	62.2
Inebriates, criminals, prostitutes, etc.	424.5
Total	1,174.5

Social Maladjustments.

The social maladjustments of the cases of abnormality were grouped as follows:

Retention in school	144.9
Truancy, delinquency, etc.	17.5
Sex immaturity	109.5
Criminal tendencies	65.3
Vagrancy	1.7
Dependence	29.8
Inebriety	276.3
Drug habits	3.5
Domestic maladjustment	35.1
Medical cases	10.1
Other groups (mainly those in institutions)	319.5
No maladjustments	140.7
Total	1,174.5

Treatment considered necessary:

Institution care	316.7
------------------	-------

Other treatment

None	166.5
Total	1,174.5

Applied to the state of Illinois this would mean that with a population of 6,193,626 (United States census bureau estimate for 1917) there are:

Idiot	21,199
Feeble minded	33,848
Epileptic	3,829
Inebriates, criminals, etc.	36,310
Total	85,186

The need for treatment would be:

Institution care	50,586
Other treatment	34,279
None	10,297
Total	85,162

Institutions Now Provided.

To meet these conditions the state possesses:

Eight hospitals for insane, housing 18,000, which indicates that we are almost up with the insane problem.

One institution for epileptics, which soon will be able to care for all who need care.

One home for dependent children, which can handle only the most pressing cases.

One reformatory for youths, containing a large number of mental defectives who eventually must be discharged, but who should be kept for life.

Two prisons, for men and one for women, also containing a large number of mental defectives who should be kept for life.

Two correctional schools, one for boys and one for girls, and both, especially the one for girls, being temporary homes for mental defectives who must be discharged at 21 years of age whether they should be or not.

One institution for feeble-minded, with 2,355 inhabitants.

Those That Are Needed.

Authority and appropriations are being asked of the present legislature for another institution for feeble-minded, which, if obtained, will ease the pressure a little, although it is obvious that four or five are needed and eventually must be provided.

There is a great demand for, and an early state venture should be, an institution for the segregation of what is known as the mentally defective, delinquent, or the feeble-minded with criminal activities of a violent, destructive character.

It will be possible to determine who should be sent to such a place only after long observation and careful, conservative, well balanced study.

The present commitment law is sufficient, as any person of doubtful mental capacity may be subjected to the proper preliminary study and if mental deficiency is established commitment can be made.

The trouble lies not in the law but in the lack of sufficient plant.

SOLDIER WITH WOUND STRIPES UP AS BANDIT

When Peter J. Gerten, wearing a uniform and wound stripes, was arrested before Judge Kersten as a bandit yesterday, the case was continued for a month to permit an investigation. Gerten is a graduate of the Pontiac reformatory.

The board of pardons in Springfield effaced all charges against Gerten and made his record "white as snow" after he had written to the board in October that he had returned, severely wounded, from France. He was anxious, he said, to return overseas and fight for his country.

On Dec. 10 he was arrested as a bandit with Edward Koskie, Adolph Steinke, and John Kelly, by Patrolman Thomas Green. The charge yesterday related that the young man stole an automobile by breaking into a garage and then used it to commit two robberies.

The victims are named as G. T. Ebert, 2325 Diversey boulevard, owner of a market, robbed of $25, and Eleanor Terbea, 4356 Costello avenue, owner of a bakery, robbed of $42. Now come the police with the unkind suspicion that Gerten's wound consists of nothing more than an operation for gonorrhea in a Washington hospital.

PEGLEG HOLDUP MAN HELD UNDER
$30,000 BONDS

David Jamnison, Chicago's "pegleg holdup man," was held to the grand jury yesterday under $30,000 bonds by Judge Caverly. Three complaints were lodged against him. He admitted he had invented the scheme of hiring a taxicab, getting in the seat with the driver and then holding him up.

Walter Bromer said he was robbed of $4.50 on Dec. 22 and John Dwyer admitted he lost $2.80 on Jan. 29. Bernard Friedman became suspicious and stopped in front of a policeman. The victims are drivers for the Yellow Cab company.

Jamnison told the court he had "nervous spells" and robbed to get money for doctor's fees and that when he was well he intended to "go straight."

MAYOR'S SCHOOL BOARD TARGET OF JUDGE OLSON

"Rottenest Record Made by Thompson," He Declares.

Judge Olson, Republican harmony candidate for mayor, last night fired a broadside at Mayor Thompson's school board and the record of the "solid six."

"The rottenest record of the entire Thompson administration," was Olson's characterization of that made up of the "six."

"While America," he said, "was sending soldiers across the seas to fight for democracy, the mayor of the city of Chicago and his official lieutenants were playing the role of czars in handling the city's educational system."

Held Power By Force. "A group on the board known as the 'solid six' was placed in control of the mayor, and its high handed actions form the most remarkable record of political machine building that has ever been witnessed in Chicago's educational system. Although the appointment of these political educators was grossly illegal, they maintained themselves in office by force over a period of eighteen months and then were ousted only after one of the most drastic Supreme court decisions ever rendered at Springfield."

"The 'solid six' autocrats, ably aided and supported by Mayor Thompson, and his entire city administration legal staff, overrode every school board precedent. They made the school tax payers a political football; they filled the pay rolls with school teachers and followers of the Thompson political army; they treated high priced jobs for the kitchen and the school as political spoils."

Removal of Shannon. "It was for the benefit of the city that within twenty-four hours after the removal of Attorney General Shannon, the school board was reorganized. The school board was reorganized by the school children and the taxpayers of Chicago."

MOODY THEOLOGY DARK AGE BRAND, "U" SAVANTS SAY

That the attack on Dean Shaller Mathews and the University of Chicago Divinity school by Dean J. M. Gray of the Moody Bible Institute before 1,500 delegates was an act of intolerance by one school of religious thought against another was the opinion current on the Midway campus yesterday.

"Dean Gray and his school," said Dean Mathews, "live in a world of their own. They decry evolution, refuse to apply scientific methods to the study of religion, and believe all human schemes of reconstruction must be subsidiary to the second coming of our Lord, which may be expected at any moment."

Prof. G. B. Smith of the university declared that Dean Gray's ideas are those which were in vogue during the middle of the last century.

The meeting at the Moody Institute yesterday was so crowded that an overflow meeting was addressed by Dr. Henry Ostrom. This afternoon Bible Institute representatives will plan for cooperation as against the "radicalism" of the University of Chicago divinity school.

ALFOBES INJECT NEW IDEAS INTO THE BODY POLITIC

Young Women Elect Own Government to Study City Business.

Since that historic day when Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst first hunger-struck for feminine freedom many prodigies have come to pass. Woman, exulting in her emancipation from the gyves so long imposed by members of the weaker sex, has off-rushed in where men feared to tread.

And this morning we herald the advent of a new Chicago mayor—Miss Melba A. Tyrrell—also a new chief of police, Miss Henrietta Kreunzier; a city treasurer, Miss Rowena Mulford; a city clerk, Miss Rachel Doyle.

They were elected last Dec. 5, but so circumspectly did the candidates comport themselves that there was an utter absence of those typographical protuberances considered indispensable in American politics.

Novelties of Government. Chief Kreunzier wears neither star nor other insignia of authority, but in her new spring toque she totes a hatpin. As for her honor, Mayor Tyrrell, the problems confronting her are so complex that she is foregoing oratorical amenities to study them. City Treasurer Mulford says there will be no padded pay rolls.

Our new city cabinet, it may be explained, comprises the members of the Alfoe Civic League—Alfoe being a contraction of the club slogan, "All for Better." It was organized to "promote the study of citizenship and help social conditions among young women."

Mayor Tyrrell pointed out yesterday that it was "the object of the club to catch them early, before they are spoiled by wrong political ideas. Any young woman who is 21 years old is eligible for membership."

They Open with Song. At the council meetings does the mayor arise and rap for order with her gavel? Do minions of the law stand guard to quell some ebullient outburst? She does not. They do not. No, ma'am. When the council meets Miss Jennie Johnson mounts the rostrum, waves her baton, and the mayor, the chief of police, and the aldermen lift up their voices in song.

"The meetings are opened by singing in order to get ourselves in the proper attitude of mind and to harmonize our thoughts," said Mayor Tyrrell.

The Alfoebes will attend the Chicago city council meetings in a body, as well as the committee meetings of the council. They will make complete reports of these future references. Also they intend to keep a record of what the councilmen do and do not do, as regards promises to the constituency.

And what does it all portend? Well, in 1923 or 1927 the members of the Alfoe will be old enough to run for office, and

IN THE POLITICAL POT

Today is the last day for filing petitions as candidates for city offices in the spring election. City Clerk Igoe announced last night that he would close his office at 5 o'clock this evening.

Capt. Merriam speaks tonight in the Eighth ward, Grand Crossing Park, Seventy-sixth street and Ingleside avenue, and in the Twenty-seventh ward at 3968 Avondale avenue.

The Young Men's National Republican club will give a social and dance at the Congress hotel tomorrow night.

Judge Olson will address the Swedish ministers of Chicago at the Morrison hotel Friday afternoon.

The Women's Olson organization of the Twenty-fifth ward will hold a rally tomorrow afternoon at Argyle and Broadway.

The Seventh Ward Republican Harmony headquarters has been opened at 6232 Cottage Grove avenue, with the following officers in charge: Charles N. Goodnow, chairman; J. Walter Ketter, vice chairman; E. H. Estley, treasurer; Paul Correll and Harry L. Lath, secretaries.

The Chinese-American Citizens' Alliance, a Republican organization composed of 200 young Chinese born in this country, is seeking to it that all of its members be registered. Seventy Chinese of American birth registered yesterday in the Twenty-fourth precinct of the First ward. The alliance, which has headquarters at 343 West Twenty-second street, where its secretary, William F. Lee is in charge, expects to take an active part in the mayoralty campaign.

U.S. FOUGHT FOR RULE BY PEOPLE, NOT MOB: LOWDEN

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 4.—[Special.]—When the United States was fighting against the "divine right of kings" in foreign lands it was not battling for the rule of the mob, Gov. Frank O. Lowden declared at a midwinter banquet of the Illinois State Bar association tonight.

Mr. Lowden called upon bench and bar to tell the people of Illinois that law and not mob must rule.

"The battle is only half won," he said. "Just as you were right when you told the people that this was a war in defense of democracy, so you must tell the people that though we fought for the right of the people to rule, we were not fighting for the right of mob rule."

Lieut. Gov. John G. Oglesby, in his address, boomed Gov. Lowden for president and reviewed the achievements of the present administration. Speaker David E. Shanahan told of the many important measures which are coming before the present session of the general assembly.

MAYOR ATTACKS ALD. CAPTAIN AS OLSON CHIEF

Mayor Thompson made two speeches in the Twenty-eighth ward last night, directing his criticism principally at Alderman Captain as the "captain of the Olson crew."

The alderman's observations on the money spent by the corporation counsel's office—$70,000—as "expenses" in negotiating a loan with the banks to pay city salaries nettled the mayor, and he went after Captain with hammer and tongs.

"Ald. Captain, as captain of the Olson crew, is pretending to work himself into a fine frenzy about the expenditure of a few thousand dollars by the office of the corporation counsel," the mayor said. "Obviously this is done to divert attention from the attempt of the street railway companies to get the people to approve the traction companies' valuation of traction property at a figure more than $75,000,000 above what the property is worth, which same, Ald. Captain attempted to 'put over.' He is straining at a gnat and swallowing a camel."

The mayor did not devote any time to explaining why the $50,000 was needed by the corporation counsel's office to negotiate the loan which the banks volunteered to save the city hall from "shutting up shop."

WHY NOT DO SOMETHING IN CHICAGO?

Various excuses are offered why the city is not going ahead with a comprehensive program of public improvements. For one thing it is stated that we have reached the limit imposed by the legislature on our borrowing power.

But no explanation has been put forward why some $10,000,000 already authorized is not being spent. This money exists either in the form of cash or in municipal bonds not yet sold. It was voted by the people for various public improvements, such as bridges, police and fire stations, street widening projects, and the like.

In addition to the bond money the city has available several million dollars for new construction in connection with the city water plant. Owing to war conditions, practically no work was done last year, though it was planned to spend about $2,300,000. This year, it is estimated, the income from the water department will furnish a further sum of $2,000,000 to $4,000,000. That could be used on new construction.

The blame for the delay in getting started seems to rest primarily with the council finance committee. None of the money can be spent until appropriations are made, and the committee thus far has not made up a budget for the expenditure of bond money or water funds. One excuse is that it is waiting until the council passes the corporate budget, but there seems to be no good reason why the committee should not get to work immediately on these new appropriations. Responsible city officials say there are no financial difficulties involved; the money will be available as soon as the finance committee and the council sanction a program. With an unemployment crisis facing us, no time should be lost by the members of that committee or the city council.

NO TOBACCO PROHIBITION.

Moderate opinion in the prohibition organization declares against interference with tobacco. Radical opinion inclines to action against this drug. Moderate opinion is expressed by Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the board of temperance, prohibition, and public morals of the Methodist church.

Dr. Wilson says that some offense has been given by the attitude of cigarette makers, but that there will be no attempt on the part of public morals organizations to interfere with the habits of adult smokers. Dr. Wilson says that millions of people have warmly resented the fact that cigarette makers were forced on soldiers who had not been accustomed to use them, but also says that the effort to convince credulous people that prohibitionists now are about to go after tobacco is "the limit of hypocrisy."

We think the moderate opinion will prevail. There are extremists among the prohibitionists who would be glad to prohibit the use of tobacco, coffee, tea, etc., but the moderates, we are convinced, will prevail.

Coffee, tea, and tobacco may do harm, but so also may green apples.

AN APPROACH TO RAIL SERVICE.

With no great speed, it is true, but with some assurance, presumably, the various interests concerned with the railroad problem are centering upon service as the phase most important to the nation. We hope there will be no inclination to lose sight of this issue.

Director General Hines seems to be not so impulsive as Mr. McAdoo in respect to the desire for government ownership. In fact, he renounces any ideas of such ownership, insisting that although the government might continue to control the roads for five years, this would not mean a movement in the direction of government ownership ultimately.

Chiefly interesting in Mr. Hines' review of the situation, before the senate interstate commerce committee, is that he proposes a fusion of interests which, with proper organization, tend to give the people what they most require—good service. He thinks that a number of railroad companies should operate the lines on a basis of private ownership and that there should be a form of governmental control whereby the ownership and regulatory device would be interlocked.

If this form of organization will provide, as we have repeatedly urged, the best features of service as created both under private and national control, then there can be no argument against it. It may not be the best form of management. It may not be the point still to be emphasized is that the good service must be delivered to the public.

It has been urged, and perhaps with good reason, that good service cannot come out of railroad whose profits are fixed; that a company, its profits so fixed, will render only a minimum of service. Mr. Hines believes this can be adjusted by leaving the margin of profit inexact and widely fluctuating so there will be an incentive to strive for higher profits through improved service.

This, too, may be a good plan; we do not say it is the only plan. There may be others; nor do we know as to that. But we do say that the gist of this plan contemplates service and that is the thing that any plan should contemplate, and not so contemplating, should meet with defeat.

If we interpret Mr. Hines correctly he does not approve of McAdoo's threat to throw the roads back on the owners if the five year extension did not become instantly operative. "I think the entire subject ought to be determined by the logic of facts," says he.

In this attitude there seems more fairness toward the railroad situation than has been displayed by the administration in many months. There is a chance for settlement and for service. We hope they stick together in the perilous journey through congress.

MURDER AS A CUSTOM.

Murder continues to be a popular expression of individuality in Chicago. It remains an assertion of the ego. It is a declaration of the right of personal selection and action. It may not be recognized as a right, but it is daily gaining ground as a custom. It is one of our habits.

We realize that the ending of the war released considerable space for interesting local happenings. Murders which were good enough murders in their way—or could be developed into fair murders—had no chance while American troops were fighting their way through the Argonne forest, but with Europe quieter, Chicago becomes more assertive.

It has been an assumption of society that murder as a habit produced restlessness and, in a community, that it did not make for community good, that it did tend to make a place less placid than was desirable. There has been a social theory and societies adhering to it have flourished.

They have discouraged it. They never gave it social sanction. We know, from our western fiction, that there have been American communities in which several murders, more or less, might be regarded as decorative of an evening enjoyed by all. They might relieve such dull periods, or threats of dull periods, as entertainers dread. Without causing excitement they would promote conversation—a desirable thing in a social gathering.

Here in Chicago we seem to be attaching more importance to this idea. THE TRIBUNE has pleaded for decoration of life, for ornamentation and coloration, but we must admit that the community seems to be pushing the color scheme too far. THE TRIBUNE explicitly does not believe in murder as decoration of life.

We believe in boxing and river boulevards, in a smokeless city, and one with good street cars, in a forest preserve, with a monument to Theodore Roosevelt in it; we believe in the electrification of railways, the building of railroad terminals, the development of a magnificent lake front, in universal service, in the Art institute, and in music, in hundreds of amusements, but not in murder.

That is one habit locally tolerated which we declare ourselves, one tendency we deplore. Is it a part of the tendency to encourage murder that we find a persistent plan to abolish capital punishment? We do not frequently visit such punishment upon the murderer, but hope to retain the permission occasionally to hang one.

It is a good law. Much might be done with it. Possibly if we could get a jury of twelve murdered men to try all murderers there would be verdicts of guilty given with an emphasis which the community would respect—verdicts which the community would execute.

THE YANKS IN RUSSIA.

From Washington we learn that military officials regard the situation in the Archangel district as "extremely critical." This information follows a dispatch from Archangel to the effect that the bolsheviks compelled the allied troops—including Americans—to withdraw to a distance of some forty miles. In this venture the Red army used gas shells for the first time.

The opinion has been pretty general here in America that the full truth about operations in Russia is either being withheld or distorted. The war department certainly has not been candid.

The recent dispatches do not restore confidence in the allied program. They arouse apprehension as to whether our men are being given sufficient support to prevent a serious calamity.

The fighting has an aspect of extreme futility. We are not forcing our will upon the soviet government of Russia and yet our men are dying for a cause, the purpose of which they are no more certain than we in America. America has not declared war on Russia, but Americans are killing Russians or are being killed by them.

Parliamentary statesmen frankly admit that allied policy is to reduce the bolsheviks to submission by means of starvation. "The allied plan," Premier Clemenceau wrote in a telegram to the French general, "is to form an economic ring round bolshevism."

The allies and the Russians cooperating with them have succeeded in cutting off a great share of the normal supply of foodstuffs from the cities, which are the chief bolshevik centers. It is a question whether hunger has not spurred the Red army to greater efforts rather than the reverse. The desire to get food might well furnish an incentive for unity of purpose and action that would otherwise be lacking. At any rate we have reports placing the Red army at more than half a million men, and even if these reports are exaggerated it seems apparent that something more than "an economic ring" would be required to overcome the bolshevik forces.

Editorial of the Day

A JOB FOR CONGRESS.

(Boston Transcript.)

Universal training for national service was recommended by the general staff of the army to the secretary of war. This we know from the testimony of the chief of staff before the house committee on military affairs. But Mr. Baker, according to the same authority, Gen. March, left the recommendation on his (Mr. Baker's) desk. The recommendations which were submitted were for the building of a small army, and the building of a "stop-gap army," whatever that may be.

Under the circumstances it is not surprising that the house committee, pacifists as many of its members are, gladly avail themselves of the opportunity to vote to postpone further consideration of all the recommendations for a new army until the new congress meets. That will not be until December, 1919. The light of time and the force of events and the doing-nothing-but-talk tactics of our pacifist secretary of war compel the president to call congress in extra session. Once the new congress meets there is ground for hope that its loyal America, regardless of their party affiliations, will turn the light on the war department and with the aid of our returning citizen soldiers find the facts upon which to fix the light of time and the force of events and the doing-nothing-but-talk tactics of our pacifist secretary of war.

INDOOR TEMPERATURES.
GATHERED a lot of miscellaneous information of interest: In this winter season from reading the January issue of the Heating and Ventilating Magazine, it gives the proper temperatures of various rooms in the winter season as follows:

Bathrooms	70 to 75
Boiler rooms	50 to 60
Churches	65
Cooling rooms (bath houses)	65
Entrance halls	54 to 60
Factories	55 to 60
Foundries	50 to 60
Gymnasiums	60
Homes for aged	60
Hospitals	72 to 75
Hot air bath (bath houses)	75
Hot air bath (bath houses)	60 to 64
Living rooms	65
Massage rooms (bath houses)	77
Machine shops	60 to 65
Offices	65
Operating rooms	70 to 80
Paint shops	65
Prisons (day confinement)	64
Prisons (night confinement)	64
The buildings	68 to 72
Schools	70
Shops	65
Sickrooms	72
Steam baths (bath houses)	113
Swimming halls	54 to 60
Vaults	54 to 60
Warm air baths (bath houses)	122

The proper temperature in most instances is determined by the amount of clothing worn or the character of the employment of the occupants or their number. The theory behind a standard of 60 to 65 for machine shops, 65 for shops, and 60 for gymnasiums is that the occupants, being engaged in muscular work, are not prone to catch cold. The supposition is that if the temperature of the air in churches is 65 and lecture halls is 60 to 64 the crowds will not catch cold. The theory of the standard of 60 to 65 for machine shops, 65 for shops, and 60 for gymnasiums is that the occupants, being engaged in muscular work, are not prone to catch cold.

HEIGHT HEREDITARY.
X. Y. Z. writes: "I am 20 years old and but 53 inches in height. Is there anything I can do to make myself grow? Is there anything in the way of diet or exercise or the like that is certain to cause growth? I would be willing to pay a liberal sum to any one who knew of some way to make me grow three or four inches."

REPLY.
Stature is determined by inheritance. You were born with an inherited growth impulse which you are not to grow to a certain size. What that impulse has been exerted upon will stop growing regardless of what you eat or take. By exercise you may add a little to your height. By proper feeding you get out of your growth impulse all that is capable of. But the sum total of gain is small, and let any fakelosopher tell you to the contrary and take your money away from you.

WAIT THREE MONTHS.
E. J. writes: "I would appreciate it if you would kindly publish how long a time should elapse before taking Blaud's pills after one has taken 500 of them, and when you resume taking them, how many should be taken for one who inclines to be anemic."

REPLY.
Interrupt for three months. Then take another 500. Do not overlook the necessity for eating green vegetables, eggs and milk. Do not permit constipation to continue. Persons with a marked tendency to anemia generally have some bad habits.

IN VARIOUS WAYS.
MRS. M. D. writes: "Is wheat bran good for constipation? How is it taken?"
REPLY.
Yes, except the condition known as spastic colon. It is eaten as a cereal and as such, bread, and pie crusts. Some people stir it in hot water and drink it.

SHOULD RECOVER RETAIL.
Chicago, Feb. 1.—(To the Legal Friend of the People.)—Some twenty years ago a man, residing in Chicago, purchased two adjoining lots in Alpine Heights, some distance southwest of Chicago. He has died and left property and has been paying taxes on same since purchase.

On visiting the place he finds that another party, who he supposes owns some adjoining property, is using said lots for farming and cattle raising purposes, in connection with his own land, without his being granted permission of the owner or even asking for permission, and has since built a fence around his property, including in same the two lots which he wrongfully occupies.

1. Is there a law existing which gives him the right to recover the second lot, all claim to same, after so occupying them for five years or more?

2. If such a law exists, what can be done in the way of serving notice on him to vacate the property?

3. Can any rental be charged him for time he has been occupying same?

1. No. Seven years' possession with color of title and payment of taxes would give title.

"DEMOCRACY."
Chicago, Feb. 4.—(Editor of The Tribune.)—One lives and learns, and I have to confess that my opinion of "democracy" has changed. I read your article I had always been under the impression that Britain was a democracy. Before I became an American I was a Britisher, and when I voted for a member of parliament it seemed to me that I was taking the same kind of a direct share in the government of Britain as I now take when I vote, say, for a United States senator.

My error was due to the fact that I had only looked up the meaning of the word "democracy" in English and Greek dictionaries. Accordingly, I believed that the words "government of the people by the people for the people" constituted an accurate definition of democracy. As a reader of history and of works on the British and American constitutions, I had been misled into supposing that where institutions existed only by the will of the people, and only so long as the people chose to retain them, there democracy existed.

My error is shared by the majority of professors of history and constitutional law both in Europe and America. Your editorial will be as much of a revelation to them as it was to me. I am sending a copy of it to the Chicago Tribune, author of "The American Commonwealth," also to a number of members of the house of commons and to a number of professors of history in American colleges.

I hope you will send a copy of it to President Woodrow Wilson, whose book on "Congressional Government" and subsequent works on the American constitution have done more to enlighten the masses of Americans than any other book I have just

MERRIAM SLAPS AT BOTH OLSON AND THOMPSON

Repeats Charge Mayor Owned Public Utility Stock.

Capt. Merriam, after launching his second meeting yesterday with an attack on Judge Olson as the candidate of one group of "organized politicians," invaded the Thirty-second ward at night, where he trained his heavy artillery on Mayor Thompson.

Mr. Merriam insisted that the mayor was "dogging" in trying to make it appear he was not interested in public utility securities. If he hasn't now sold the Commonwealth Edison stock he had in 1916, par value $117,300, Merriam wants to know when he got rid of it, to whom he transferred it, and how much he got for it.

Did Own Stock.
Said the captain, speaking in the city school, Seventeenth street and Yale

"More than a week ago I showed the records of the public utilities commission on June 30, 1916, revealed the fact that William Hale Thompson was the owner of Commonwealth Edison stock of the par value of $117,300 and inquired of the mayor if he still owned this stock, and if not, when it had been sold and when and at what price. To this the mayor has returned two evasive replies. The first reply was that he had never owned any gas stock. When I pointed out that the Commonwealth Edison company controlled the gas company and the elevated railways, he again returned an evasive reply. I again ask when the holdings of William Hale Thompson in the Commonwealth Edison company were disposed of and to whom and at what price?

Asks About Eitelson.
I again ask the mayor on whose advice he appointed Samuel Eitelson as corporation counsel of the city of Chicago, when Schuyler & Eitelson at the time of Mr. Eitelson's appointment were attorneys for the gas company? And I ask on whose advice he retained Mr. Eitelson as corporation counsel after it became evident that Mr. Schuyler was still appearing before the city council as attorney for the gas company?

Mayor Thompson has utterly failed to protect the interests of the gas consumers of the city of Chicago during the four years of his administration. He has contented himself with words which found no expression in deeds.

Abandons His Platform.
The mayor now proposes to abandon the suit for $10,000,000 in refunds due gas consumers of Chicago under the 1912 gas ordinance of 1911. The recovery of these refunds was one of the planks in his platform in 1915 and when the courts had finally determined the case he abandons the whole position of the city and is willing to leave the consumers with their claim of $10,000,000 utterly helpless.

DE PRIEST OUT FOR ALDERMAN
AS MAYOR'S AID
The bid is off again in the Second ward. Former Alderman Oscar De Priest of 3515 Vernon avenue yesterday filed his petition as a candidate for the Republican nomination for alderman.

A big sign has been erected on State street in the heart of the negro district reading:
"Thompson for mayor; De Priest for alderman."
De Priest's entrance in the fight in the three-cornered battle, with Dr. Williams, the Sunday school superintendent, leading the independent forces against both De Priest and Louis Anderson, who is up for reelection.

The mayor's forces were supposed to have been supporting Anderson, but the leaders are claiming now that De Priest is going to get the "grapevine" support from the city hall, while on the surface Anderson will appear to have this support.

Other aldermanic petitions were filed yesterday as follows:
Republican—Eighth ward, Frank C. Smith; Tenth ward, Charles G. Foucek; Thirtieth ward, John Burns; Thirty-fourth ward, Henry Czerwinski.
Democratic—Thirtieth ward, Jesse Pritchard; Twenty-second ward, Frank Gardner; Twenty-sixth ward, William Douglas; Twenty-ninth ward, Wacław Bielecki; Thirty-fifth ward, John S. Garrity and Joseph J. Sheehan.
George Koop, the Socialist leader, filed a petition from the Twenty-seventh ward.

"The World Is Too Full of Trouble," She Wrote and Turned on the Gas.

Miss Florence McKee

"I am going away and hope you won't feel badly about me. . . . the world is too full of trouble for me to stay any longer."

So wrote Florence McKee, 22 years old, to a friend before turning on the gas in her room. She was found, dead, yesterday morning by Mrs. George Blond, 4501 Prairie avenue, with whom she lived. In another letter she wrote:

"Notify G. A. I have threatened to do this before. My former sweetheart asked me to marry him, not knowing that I already was married. I made a poor choice."

Mrs. Jessie Love, 4100 Calumet avenue, told the police the girl, who, she said, had lived at her home for a year and left only a few days ago, was the daughter of Robert McKee, wealthy land owner of Cummings, N. D., and that she had been married to John M. McDonald of Fargo, N. D.

She left her husband, Mrs. Love said, shortly after the ceremony, and later got a divorce. Mrs. Love said the "G. A." in the letter probably referred to Glen Arnold of Pontiac, Ill., a soldier, who was an old friend of the girl, and who recently had called upon her.

SWEITZER ASKS WOMEN VOTERS TO MEET HIM

Will Consult with Them Twice a Week During Fighting.

With the registration out of the way the Sweitzer folks yesterday decided to devote most of their energies to spreading the Sweitzer gospel among the women voters.

Organization of the women voters within the Democratic household will be carried out on an elaborate scale. The regulars take the position that the Republican candidates are making all the issues they will need in the election campaign after the primary, and from now until primary day it behooves the county clerk's friends to bring in the women voters in every section of the city.

To Hold Receptions.
Two big receptions are to be held weekly in parlor C at the Hotel Sherman to be met by Mr. Sweitzer. The first reception is to be held next Wednesday. All the Democratic women primary voters of the city have been personally invited to be present and help start the Sweitzer campaign off in style.

Mr. Sweitzer expects that the present week will see the passage by the state senate of the soldiers' enfranchisement bill which he framed and which was introduced in the upper house by Senator Edward J. Hughes of the Twenty-first senatorial district. There is practically no opposition to the bill in the senate and it is expected to reach the house the latter part of the week. This means that its passage through the house by Feb. 15 will be possible.

Dr. Robertson Pilots 34 Voters to Register

"Whatever you think of Dr. John Dill Robertson as a health commissioner, he is certainly all there as a precinct captain."

This was the comment of judges and clerks of election of the Twenty-seventh precinct of the Eighteenth ward last night when the polls closed.

In this precinct there is located Dr. Robertson's Jefferson Park hospital and his home for nurses. Last fall, when Mayor Thompson was not a candidate, two persons registered from the hospital and one from the nurses' home. But yesterday it was different. Here were the returns: Hospital, 16; home at 1468 West Adams street, 18; total, 34.

The case was continued to Feb. 11.

CZECHO-SLOVAKS ORGANIZE TO AID SLAV-U. S. TRADE

Defend Use of Foreign Languages; Pledge Loyalty.

The Czech-Slovak Chamber of Commerce of America, with Chicago as headquarters, was formed yesterday at the final session of the American Czech-Slovak commercial congress in the Morrison hotel. Czech-Slovak chambers of commerce in most of the important cities of the United States and Canada are represented. Its purpose is to foster trade relations between the new republic of Czech-Slovakia and this country, and to aid in the commercial and industrial upbuilding of Czech-Slovakia.

The new organization is governed by twenty-one directors, who held a meeting immediately after the adjournment of the congress and elected the following officers: President, John A. Cervinka, Chicago; first vice president, Albert Mamatej, Pittsburgh; second vice president, Václav Buresh, Omaha; secretary, John A. Sokol, Chicago; financial secretary, Andrew Schustek, Chicago; treasurer, James F. Stepana, Chicago.

Loyalty to U. S. Affirmed.

The board of directors includes John A. Cervinka, James F. Stepana, Frank G. Hajlicek, John A. Sokol, Andrew Schustek, John Kubicek, and Paul Kverka of Chicago.

A message of condolence on the death of former President Roosevelt was sent to Mrs. Roosevelt.

Resolutions reaffirming the loyalty of the Czech-Slovak population of the United States and particularly to its enlightened president, Woodrow Wilson, our undying gratitude for all the aid extended to the Czech-Slovak republic, and pledging all the resources of the Czech-Slovakia in this country to the fostering of advantageous relations and amity between the two republics, were sent to President Wilson.

Want U. S. Trade Mission.

Another resolution asked Secretary of Commerce W. C. Redfield to appoint a trade mission of competent American business men to make research into Czech-Slovakia and the trade opportunities it affords with this country.

Still another resolution deprecates the movement against the use of foreign languages in America.

CHICAGO MEN GIVEN SUPPORT ON WHEAT PRICE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—[Special.]—The Chicago Board of Trade gained some support today for its contention that there should be no further fixing of prices of wheat to the consumer. Witnesses before the house committee on agriculture who took this side of the argument included James W. Warren, representing the New York Produce exchange; Blanchard Randall, a Baltimore exporter, and Garnet Zorn of Louisville.

H. N. Sager of Chicago reiterated the points brought out yesterday by L. F. Gates of the Chicago delegation.

Witnesses siding with representatives of grain exchanges of Minneapolis, Duluth, and Buffalo, who were heard yesterday, included Harry Stratton of Milwaukee, E. F. Beck of Omaha, Thomas E. Tensdale of St. Louis, W. T. Cornelson of Peoria, Fred Mayer of Toledo, and James F. Bell of Minneapolis. Mr. Bell, who is connected with the milling division of the food administration, spoke from the viewpoint of the millers, while the others represented grain exchanges.

There was no suggestion of opposition to the carrying out of the guarantee of $2.26 per bushel to the producer or the appropriation of $1,250,000,000 to cover the loss which will be sustained by the government.

The witnesses agreed the existing United States grain corporation, or some similar body, should be maintained as the government's agency for supporting the price to growers.

Morgan Park Folk Scared by Starving Great Dane

A starving Great Dane has menaced residents of Morgan Park for the last three weeks, according to Mrs. H. W. Coleman, 10013 South Leavitt street. Mrs. Coleman told a TRIBUNE reporter yesterday that she had appealed in vain to the police of the Morgan Park and Gresham stations and the Humane society to have the dog taken away. She offers a reward to any one who will either kill it or take it away.

Solving the Housemaid Problem

BY ELIZABETH GREY.

Two letters on my desk this morning provide interesting contrasts for the housewife who is willing, as one of my earlier correspondents put it, "to face facts." The first letter is from a housemaid who likes her job and is going to stay in it as long as she can.

"Dear Reporter," she begins, "I am awfully sorry you haven't any more articles in the paper of your experiences in domestic work. I am doing that work now, have ever since I kept house for my father; did not have the chance to learn anything else. And when I saw that first piece in the paper I thought to myself, is there really some one going to start something?"

"I was at a place 10 years. I have been at this place 1 1/2 years and think I will stay if they don't put me out or as long as they can afford to keep a maid. Am not getting as much as some places offer, but am satisfied because I know how most places are. I have three sisters that could give you some stories.

"I like housework so well if I am with nice people. I surely have a lovely place now. The Mrs. knows how to manage the work."

No Two Households Alike.

How does that "Mrs." manage the work, and how does the maid manage hers? No two households are exactly the same, and the same rules won't work in all cases, but aren't there a few general principles of fair play which, if followed by both sides, can help the situation? I am informed this morning by three or four different housekeepers that within the last two or three weeks many more girls are applying for work as housemaids.

The advertisement which formerly brought only two or three replies now brings in a single morning fifteen applications. They think all the talk of giving positions to returning soldiers has brought a realization to the girls that the housework job is one which they can count on and they'd better specialize in it and look upon it as real business.

This girl who wrote to me likes her job and thinks she is being treated fairly. There are many other girls either will resign or face grand jury action."

Weber was asked the following questions: Q.—How do you know these men were disorderly? A.—I saw them come in.

Q.—What arrangement did you have with Francis about the fines? A.—Not any, no arrangement.

Q.—You had no arrangement? A.—What do you mean, in collecting fines?

Q.—Yes. A.—Why if they had no money they signed an order on the Soo line for the check to pay the fine.

Q.—When they didn't sign an order what did you do, put them in jail? A.—Then fellows all signed the order except McCouville and he had the depot agent sign.

The magistrate admitted that the police officer usually was the only witness against the men.

Evanston's Firemen, Cops, Get No Boost in Wages

Evanston's policemen and firemen will have to wait for the ten per cent increase in salaries asked by them. The city council last night passed the new budget without including the appropriation necessary for the increase; Alderman T. S. Roberts recommended that $45,000, included for the upkeep of the city parks, be diverted to increase the salaries, but no action was taken.

TAX ON REALTY MUST BE RAISED, BOARD IS TOLD

Move Necessary to Make Up $20,000,000 Needed for City Budget.

Quite a lot of bad news was given the Chicago real estate board last night by members of the city council committee on finance.

The committee members were invited to have dinner with the board, which wanted to hear all about the 1919 city budget. Ald. John A. Richert, chairman of the committee, gave the board some information which was not calculated to aid in digesting the dinner. It was: The city has only $15,000,000 in sight for corporate purposes this year. The expenditures are estimated at $35,000,000. The $20,000,000 will have to be made up by the legislature, increasing the city's share of the tax rate from $1.10 per $100 of assessed valuation to $2.75.

No Other Way.

"Any other way of getting this besides from real estate?" asked a board member. "When the city budget, 1919, is ready they have to dress for a party or theater first and keep the girls waiting. It doesn't matter if they want to go out or not."

Her Suggestion.

"This is the question: Can't they have dinner with their dinner and are doing their work? That would at least give a girl a chance to dress while the abled-bodied husband and wife are already on their way out in the factories they work only from 8 until 5, and if they work overtime they get paid for it. In the home they have to work until 12 in the night and the abled-bodied housewife does not know enough to say 'thank you.' It is housewives like these that are looking for help and are not capable or humane enough to keep any housemaid."

This would seem to be an extreme case. I certainly never encountered anything like that in the brief period of my existence as a housemaid.

SCHOOL BOARD VOTES $8,000 FOR BOY BANDS

Assures Unit at Every Branch as Aid to Military Training.

The world's greatest cadet band, organized, uniformed, and equipped within two months, is the next step in the Chicago public school military training program.

With the war department solidly behind the big military and physical program launched here as a pattern for national adoption, members of the board of education yesterday voted unanimously for an $8,000 emergency appropriation to equip the 400 boys who will make up the new military band. Red taps were discarded to authorize the movement, and vote on the proposition was taken over the telephone by President Jacob M. Loeb, Capt. F. L. Beale, director of military and physical training in the schools, declared crack cadet bands will be ready in each of the twenty Chicago high schools the moment they organized companies and battalions of kid fighters have need of them.

Three Bands Now.

Three high school bands, including the widely known organization in Lane Tech, are already operating. Every school will be allowed to try for his own school band. It is hoped each high school will be able to organize a band before March 1, when the work of correlating the various units into a single organization for military work will be started.

"There is nothing better than good music to put pep and snap into any military organization," declared Capt. Beale. "The action of the board of education will go far to bring the Chicago school system to the front in national training."

"Practically every boy in our high schools is taking a personal interest in physical and military training now," said Superintendent Peter A. Morison.

"With the new uniforms and Winchester rifles on the way from Washington, and the prospect of twenty-one cadet bands before them, we may expect every high school boy in Chicago to be in uniform long before spring."

Review Within a Month.

"Just to show the war department that Chicago is on the job, we are going to rush the military work in a single model high school as soon as the equipment arrives, and before the month is over I am going to invite the war department committee on education and special training to review the troops," President Loeb said.

"With uniforms, rifles, and complete military band, we should be able to make an excellent showing."

The cadet summer camp to be opened somewhere along the lake shore this spring will welcome students and instructors from all high schools of the state and will offer intensive physical training courses for general military activity through the year.

Frank Holt Is Elected Milk Producers' President

The Milk Producers' association held its annual meeting at the Hotel La Salle yesterday and elected the following officers: President, Frank Holt; vice president, George Fox; secretary, W. J. Kittle; treasurer, W. S. Robinson.

BRIDE SLAIN, HER MOTHER SHOT; BLAME HUSBAND

Discharged Soldier,
Thrice Identified, Denies Murder.

Mrs. Cecelia Hensel, 18 years old, a Christmas bride, died at the county hospital last night as the result of bullet wounds. In her dying statement she accused her husband, Arthur Hensel, 25 years old, a discharged soldier. The husband denied his guilt.

Mrs. Julia Lenarowak, 39 years old, the girl's mother, is also dangerously wounded. She told the police Hensel did the shooting. Stanley Solaski, 14 years old, living in the same house with the women, identified Hensel as the slayer. The shooting took place at the home of Mrs. Lenarowak, 324 North Ashland avenue.

Gives Self Up.

While the police were looking for him Hensel walked into the Central police station and gave himself up, saying:

"I have just read that my wife has been shot. The paper said I am wanted. I know nothing about it; haven't been near her house today, and am innocent. But I thought it best to report to you when I learned you were looking for me."

Hensel was taken to his wife's bedside in the county hospital. At sight of him she fainted. When she was revived she said, "Take him away. He shot me. Take him away or he'll shoot me again."

"He did it. I hope he hangs," said the bride's mother when she saw him.

Lived Together Eight Days.

According to the police, Hensel got his discharge from the army on Dec. 15 and married the girl the day before Christmas. They lived together only eight days and then separated after a quarrel.

The fatal quarrel, according to the women, was over the man's life insurance, given him as a soldier.

The police said that in the girl's home they found at least a hundred letters from various soldiers and sailors.

OFFICER HERE IN HOSPITAL, 'DEAD' IN ARMY LISTS

Lieut. Harvey Conover, American aviator, now recovering from wounds at the army hospital at Forty-seventh street and Draxel boulevard, read in the official casualty lists yesterday morning that he had been killed in action.

Lieut. Conover was considerably surprised and mildly interested. To a reporter for THE TRIBUNE who visited him he said:

"You may state that the report of my death is greatly exaggerated. Of course, I have a hole in my knee and one in my shoulder, but I am under the impression I am still alive."

The parents of Lieut. Conover, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Conover, live at 51 South Oak street, Hinsdale. Mr. Conover is puzzled as to why the war department persists in listing his son as dead.

"The first information I had of their erroneous attitude was when I received a letter from the adjutant general asking where they should send Harvey's effects. Now they've killed him again. It is rather annoying."

Lieut. Conover has received the Distinguished Service Cross and the Croix de Guerre for "extraordinary heroism in action" near Conservoy, France, Oct. 27. He was with the Thirtieth squadron of the Third observation group, A. E. F. Before entering the service he was salesman for the Tallman-Robins company.

The official casualties this morning contain the name of Private John A. Gallagher as wounded, degree undetermined. The parents have also received word that he was gassed. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Gallagher, 2321 Pine Grove avenue. He is with Company I, Thirty-ninth infantry.

MRS. UNDERWOOD GETS $300,000.

Mrs. Lucy C. Underwood, 1745 Hinman avenue, Evanston, will receive the entire $300,000 estate of her husband, Attorney Arthur W. Underwood, in accordance with the terms of his will, filed for probate yesterday.

Teeth Cannot Last If You Let That Film Remain

Why Brushed Teeth Discolor and Decay

Millions of people find that teeth brushed daily still discolor and decay. Tartar forms on them. And most people, soon or late, suffer pyorrhea.

Old methods of tooth brushing have proved sadly inadequate. Statistics show that tooth troubles have constantly increased.

Now dentists know the reason. It lies in a film—that slimy film which you feel on your teeth with your tongue. It clings and stays in certain places, particularly in crevices.

That is what discolors—not your teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. "Bacterial plaque" is the dental name for film. Those germs, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Thus most tooth troubles are now traced to that film.

The tooth brush used in the old ways leaves much of this film intact. The ordinary dentifrice cannot dissolve it. Soapy tooth pastes even help it to cling.

So much of this film—the great tooth destroyer—has been left to do its damage. Nearly everybody has had teeth wrecked by it, despite the daily brushing.

Dental science has long sought a way to end that film. It has now evolved an efficient film combatant. Able authorities have proved this by many clinical tests. Now, for general use, the method is embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. Leading dentists everywhere are urging its adoption.

And we offer you a 10-Day Tube to show its effects.

PAT. OFF.
Pepsodent
REG. U.S.
The New-Day Dentifrice

Now You Can End It In a Pleasant Way

Pepsodent is a dainty tooth paste, based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to constantly combat it.

This method seems simple, but pepsin must be activated. The usual method is an acid, harmful to the teeth. So pepsin long seemed impossible.

Science has made it possible now by the discovery of a harmless activating method. Five governments have already granted patents. That method, used in Pepsodent, has brought about this dental revolution.

The effects of Pepsodent have been proved beyond question. Thousands of tests have been made and watched by experts. Results in some cases have been watched for years.

They are so prompt, so apparent that anyone can prove them. And that is the object of this offer. The stores named below have been supplied with liberal 10-Day Tubes. And they will give you one, entirely free, if you present the coupon this week.

Do this for your own sake—for your children's sake. Use Pepsodent like any tooth paste. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the slimy film. See how the teeth whiten—how they glisten—as the fixed film disappears.

Old methods have not ended film—you know that. See if this way does. Few things are more important.

Then decide for yourself what to do in the future. Hundreds of thousands are now making this test, and they do not return to the old ways. Nor will you. Cut out the coupon now.

$5,400,000 FOR PUBLIC WORKS ASSURED IN DAY

City Improvement Fund for the Year Exceeds $20,000,000 Now.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

The closing of the books of the board of trustees yesterday shows that the city has approximately $5,400,000 for new school buildings, additions, and construction betterments.

The county's good roads program for 1919, practically completed yesterday, discloses $1,500,000 more available and an additional $400,000 expected.

These two sums give an aggregate of $5,400,000 in yesterday's contribution to the improvement of the city. The railroads have provided more than $10,000,000 and the sanitary district $4,500,000.

$20,000,000 Work Assured.

So the promised Chicago betterments for 1919 exceed $20,000,000, with several important agencies yet to report. Among these are street improvements, constructions from city bond money, and improvements and extensions in the water plant.

On none of these has a definite policy been outlined. Supt. Mortenson of the school board will probably take fifteen or twenty days in which to make his recommendations on school building construction, but it is anticipated he will urge the need of more schoolroom facilities than can be obtained from the $3,500,000.

Road Building Program.

The county permanent road program is much further advanced. B. D. Barker, acting superintendent of highways, supplied this rough summation of the program:

Fund Source	Mileage	Cost
County bonds	111	$ 250,000
State aid	140	1,000,000
State aid	14	80,000
State aid	15	120,000
Federal aid	18	75,000
State bonds	117	400,000
Totals	500	$1,925,000

*To be completed. †New work.

Cook county road construction shows that nearly half the cost of roads is paid for labor and teaming. On an average it has required about fifty men a month to construct a mile of road.

County's Cash Is Ready.

Every cent of the county's share of the cost of the above road program is available. The cash is lying in the treasury to complete contracts already awarded. For the new work $350,000 worth of bonds have been sold. They were signed yesterday and will be delivered today to the bank purchasers.

The program contemplates the construction of a pavement in the old Waukegan road, recently named the Chicago-Milwaukee post road, from Niles through Glenview to the county line. That is a distance of ten miles. Another road is Archer avenue from Harlem avenue to the city limits beyond Lemont, a distance of twelve miles. This is to be a state aid proposition and will be the road from Chicago to Joliet.

City's Program Lags.

Will county, with federal aid, is said to have enough cash in sight to do its part. But if Will and Cook both make good there will be a gap of two miles on Archer, between Kedzie and Cicero avenue, within the limits of Chicago. The city has made no announcement of its intention to improve this stretch.

The Desplaines river road, which skirts the west bank of the river and the forest preserves from Milwaukee avenue—just north of the House that Jack Bull—to Twelfth street, will add 13.5 miles of usable roads.

Eleven miles of the west end of Higgins road, from Elk Grove to the county line, was placed under contract in 1917. That is to be completed this year, according to schedule. Fourteen miles of this road has already been finished.

Evanston Road Plans.

Four miles of Dempster street from Morton Grove to Evanston, let last year, is to be completed this year. Central street, from Arlington Heights through Mt. Prospect to the Rand road, four miles, is also in the program. A mile is to be built in Gross Point on the Ridge road and 2.5 miles in Western avenue, from the Dixie to the Lincoln highways.

Senator Glavin will present two resolutions in the state senate this morning with the purpose of promoting public works. One of these urges every municipality in the state "to take immediate steps to start work at once on public improvements coming properly within their sphere."

Then it further resolves "that the senate and house of the state will, upon request, render all necessary assistance and cooperation with the counties, cities, villages, towns, park districts, drainage districts and all other public bodies in the state, to facilitate said bodies in making necessary public improvements; and will pass whatever legislation is necessary to assist said bodies in making necessary public improvements."

A copy of this is to be forwarded to every public body in the state. The other resolves that the state shall take immediate steps to start work at once upon the construction of $50,000,000 worth of good roads and the building of a $20,000,000 waterway.

CAPITAL LABOR MEETING HERE.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 4.—[Special.]—Additional plans for completing the system suggested by Gov. Lowden to end strife between capital and labor will be discussed at a meeting in the rooms of the Illinois Industrial Commission at Chicago on Saturday. The call for the meeting was issued by the governor today.

Give 14 Million Job Bureau Fund to Troops, Is Plea

A letter protesting against the proposed appropriation of $14,800,000 for the United States employment service in obtaining work for returning soldiers was received yesterday from Albert G. Frost, president of the National association of technical, educational and commercial employment agencies.

"We believe the $14,800,000, if given to the soldiers, will be of greater benefit than if paid out to the United States employment service," the letter reads. "This sum will give $50 each to 300,000 soldiers—more than the service will be able to place."

SOUTH AMERICAN MILLIONS WAIT FOR U. S. TRADE

But Concessions Are Needed to Get It, Says Argentina.

South America and particularly Argentina, is on "a money jag" ready to buy millions of dollars' worth of manufactured products, but the United States, "won't be the favored nation, until she shows favors" and "picks sympathy, as well as honor," with the shipments it sends there, Arthur Liebes, advertising manager of La Nacion, one of South America's biggest newspapers, told an audience at the National Institute of Commerce and Trade last night.

He declared that unless manufacturers of the United States awaken to the realization that the countries of South America demand the same high grade of goods as other nations and that shipments must be made understandingly, European nations and Japan will continue to control the South American markets. He said it was highly important that this country participate in development there and invest its money in the countries south of the equator.

Voting Is Compulsory.

"There seems to be a decided lack of understanding regarding South America," he said. "Take Argentina: it is one of the finest democracies in the world. It is built not only on the fundamental of compulsory military service, but of compulsory education and compulsory voting. Every man upon reaching 22 years of age must vote or be subject to a penalty of fine or imprisonment, or both. Then compulsory education fits him to vote intelligently. Even foreigners who come to Argentina are predisposed to have an interest in affairs there and after two years of residence may vote."

An Englishman, right now, is a member of the city council of Buenos Aires."

He said the Argentine government is absolutely stable and that strikes in Buenos Aires at present are of no more consequence than those in other parts of the world.

"The trouble is that for four years the Argentine has been absolutely shut off from foreign commerce," he explained. "No luxuries or even necessities have come in. The result is the country has been forced to live on itself and the result is prices have greatly increased with wages not keeping pace. The strike of the workers was the result."

Branch Banks Help.

Establishment of branch banks of American financial institutions, he said, had practically met the "long term credit" objection hitherto held by American manufacturers, the latter being able to discount and promptly get cash. He said that the system of credits rests on the trade acceptance and that credit information is now not only reliable, but easily accessible.

"The United States cannot hope to be the principal factor in South American trade unless she is willing to become a liberal investor," Mr. Liebes said. "Investment must be made the basis for trade relations."

"England now has $2,000,000,000 invested in Argentina and naturally that has a lot to do with sentiment in trade relations. She has built railroads opening up and developing the country. There are now 40,000 Englishmen living in Buenos Aires and two newspapers, one having 5,000 and the other 8,000 circulation, are published by Englishmen and are important factors."

Japan United States Rival.

"Then Japan must be considered. She is a hard, shrewd, persevering competitor. The supply of adjectives fails in describing her activities in reaching out for South American trade."

"The United States has a practical monopoly on farm machinery going to South America, the supply coming from European plants of American concern. The Chicago packers control the meat business. But manufacturers in other lines are not in the running. Argentina is an agrarian nation. With its immense grain district developed, the great northwest of the United States could be put in its vest pocket. It has tropical fruit and primeval forests, great sheep and cattle ranches, and its dairy interests have become so vast that a dairy chamber of commerce has been organized. Its tremendous resources haven't been touched, but as soon as its 25,000 miles of railway are extended they will be. Its climate ranges from sub-tropical to that of the Antarctic ocean."

6 BANDITS BEAT GIRLS, GET $1,000, MISS PAY ROLL

Six armed highwaymen robbed the general office of the American Cuddey company, 764 Mather street, yesterday of nearly $1,000, but missed the prize they were after, the company's $10,000 pay roll.

Believing the pay roll was in the office, the bandits kicked the male employees, beat them with revolver butts, and slapped and cuffed girl employees. Joseph Kohn, an accountant, with blood running down his face, bolted while the robbers were trying to make him open the safe, ran into the engine room, and warned the engineer, who set his whistle blowing. The alarm scared the robbers away. Miss Margaret Dunne, an employee and niece of former Gov. Dunne, who tried to phone the police, was dragged from the telephone and roughly thrown into a room with other employees. She fainted.

While the robbers were in the office the money was on its way to the company offices under a special guard. The bandits stripped the men and girls of jewelry and money.

The Closed Car Classic

On Exhibit at Our Showrooms

Art and engineering formed an alliance and the Marmon Closed Carriage came forth. It is Beauty and Luxury put to work in the interest of Comfort and Utility.

Rubay and other noted masters produced the coachwork. And replicas could not be created on other than the Marmon Chassis. Its long, low, unincumbered construction brings the floor boards so close to the ground that the overall height of the car is only 79½ inches.

Yet the interior has ample headroom. The doors are wide, the interior commodious, and the decorations superbly conceived and carried out.

The Marmon Town Car, 4-Door Family Sedan, Limousine, and Landulet are all that they appear to be—noble in their line and grace, bird-like in acceleration and riding ease—indomitable in energy.

Marmon Closed Cars are 1,100 pounds lighter—they even weigh less than open cars of equal size and power but of other manufacture.

You are cordially invited to come and view the Marmon Cars that attracted so much admiration at the recent Chicago Automobile Show. Here you can examine them leisurely and experience the comfort and riding ease for which they are noted.

STOCK RAISERS URGE U. S. SEIZE MEAT INDUSTRY

Claim They Will Be Driven to Bankruptcy if Nothing Is Done.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—A government regulated monopoly of the meat industry was advocated by live stock producers today before the senate agriculture committee and the house interstate commerce committee as the only means of satisfying both the producer and the consumer and preventing the cattle business from being destroyed.

George Armstrong, cattle man of Fort Worth, Tex., recommended to the senate committee that the government control the entire industry and fix the prices of live stock, meat and labor. Edward C. Lassiter, member of the executive committee of the National Live Stock association and former chief of the live stock and markets division of the food administration, told the house committee that the cattle industry would be destroyed if the government did not assure the producers a just profit. He declared that more cattle men were being driven to bankruptcy today than at any other time in the history of the industry, and that government ownership was the only solution of the problem.

Assaults Hoover and Aids.
Mr. Lassiter charged the food administration was responsible for large losses suffered by live stock producers. He said the packers were assured a good profit, but when the producers asked for the same privilege Food Administrator Hoover told them it could not be done and that they should be willing to make sacrifices for their country.

The witness said the result was that the credit of the producers was destroyed and that they had lost so much money that they now were forced to sell almost all their calves with the consequent threat to the future meat supply.

"Mr. Hoover seemed to have every one's interests at heart except the producers," he stated. "He treated them unfairly from the start. He even went so far as to tell the allies the meat supply of the country was much greater than it was. He so manipulated the situation that England shows an increase in her cattle during the war while ours are greatly decreased."

Question Newspaper Deal.
While Mr. Armstrong was testifying before the senate committee he was asked concerning letters bearing on his relations to the five big packers. One of these dealt with his purchase of stock in the Fort Worth Record.

The witness explained that he had helped to purchase a controlling interest in this paper, advancing $10,000 borrowed on notes indorsed by Armour & Co. and Swift & Co. but denied that his purpose was to give the packers control of the paper.

Henry Veeder, counsel for Swift & Co. followed Mr. Armstrong. He testified concerning his connection with the pools conducted by the big packers for ten years down to 1902, and after several clashes with Mr. Heney, protested that he was not permitted to answer questions properly.

Formation of pools by the big packers was to prevent an over supplied market and to keep prices stable, Mr. Veeder testified.

DROPS DEAD IN RESTAURANT.
The man who dropped dead yesterday, supposedly from heart disease, after ordering a meal in a restaurant at 221 South Clark street, was identified as C. Henry by Howard Jenkins, clerk at the hotel, where Henry had been staying.

MOTOR SHOW NOTES

On four days the motor show attendance, totaling about $5,000 each, was larger than last year. The attendance of out of town manufacturers, dealers, and buyers was not as large as at former shows, but this was due largely to the fact that the show was not as extensively advertised.

The development of a better motor truck type was one of the things brought about by the war, according to Maj. Raymond W. Charlton of the army motor transport service, who is now with the Walden W. Shaw Livery company. The first battle of the motor, he says, was the cause of a great awakening. Without the aid of motors the Germans could not have been kept away from Paris, and this fact, Mr. Charlton says, caused the realization that troops could only be transported quickly with the aid of many motor trucks.

One of the quickest salesmen in advertising, according to T. L. Beach, president of the Sandow Motor company. "Our problem," he said, "was to reach the largest number of people quickly. We selected the newspaper having the largest circulation in the middle west, using the largest ad possible. The next morning the appearance of the ad sold four trucks for immediate delivery to the Coco Cola company."

E. Deutch, vice president of the Signal Motor Truck company, believes the war not only was responsible for adding to the prestige of the motor truck, but that it helped to educate business houses to appreciate the value of trucks. "With the exacting standards and the high pressure we worked under on government contracts, we gained an amount of experience and knowledge in truck building that could not have been acquired through several years of ordinary work, therefore the manufacturers also benefit," said Mr. Deutch.

BOULEVARD LINK TO BE COMPLETED WITHIN A YEAR

Faherty Says Progress of Work Assures
Early Finish.

Within a year the Michigan avenue project will be finished. M. J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, held out this promise yesterday. He said work on the improvement was progressing at such a rapid rate that he now could say it would be completed in less than a year.

"The Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company, which has the contract for the substructure," said Mr. Faherty, "is ready to go ahead with the underground work for the two plaza approaches of the new bridge."

Kirk Company Notified.
"I have sent word to James S. Kirk & Co. that we will require it to move out of the portion of its building which we need. The widened Michigan avenue will run through this property."

The south end of the improvement is progressing rapidly, Mr. Faherty said. The widened thoroughfare is to be divided into two parts, one half to be open for traffic while the other is under construction. The plan is to have traffic go north to Lake street and thence into Wabash avenue while the portion between Lake street and the river is being constructed.

Twelfth Street Work.
Commissioner of Public Works Francis and City Bridge Engineer Phildelt yesterday made a tour of the Twelfth street viaduct site. They announced that work on a new viaduct and bridge would start at once.

MOTOR TRUCKS TO BRING FARMS TO YOUR KITCHEN

Rural Express Service Is Explained at Big Exhibit.

Mrs. Housewife, if you are not interested in motor trucks, you should be! This is the declaration of the committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce exhibiting at the motor truck show at the Coliseum. This committee yesterday gave out news that is good news for the Chicago housewife who is constantly faced with the high cost of living.

According to the N. A. C. of C. committee, this summer will witness the augmentation of the inter-city and rural motor truck express to such an extent that the producer and the consumer will be linked more closely than ever before. Hundreds of motor truck express lines, carrying farm produce direct to the consumer, will become one of the most dynamic forces in the battle against the high cost of living.

Five Things Promised.
Five things will be accomplished, according to the committee, by the improvement of the rural express service: Increase the food supply by furnishing regular transportation of farm products.

Stimulate the farmers' efforts by the knowledge that such transportation is available. Enable the farmer to avoid loss of time in marketing his products, thereby increasing his time on the farm. Enable the farmer to obtain goods from the city on day of order. Facilitate traffic between the farmer, the market and the consumer.

New Line Established.
The committee announced as an indication of the spread of the movement in this section that a new rural motor express line between Gary, Lowell, Hegewich, Indiana Harbor, Whiting, East Chicago, and Chicago has been started.

The motor truck show, attracting many women because of the rural express feature, will close tomorrow night, bringing to an end the nineteenth annual automobile show.

Attendance records at the show have prompted Manager W. A. Miles to declare that the exposition, the first in several years of motor trucks, has demonstrated that this city is ideal for motor displays.

U. S. TO PAY ARMY CONTRACTS SOON, SAYS GENERAL

The two billions of dollars which the United States government still owes on partly completed war contracts will be paid at the earliest possible moment, according to Brig. Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, who spoke yesterday at a luncheon of the Illinois Manufacturers' association in the Hotel La Salle.

"Nearly four billions of dollars in ordnance and other army contracts have been canceled. There are about two billion dollars' worth of contracts which were in process of completion at the close of the war," said Gen. Anderson.

Gen. Anderson in the early months of the war was director of bridges and supplies. The fact that the government is slow in settling up these pending contracts is tying up credit among the smaller subcontractors, according to J. M. Glenn, secretary of the association. "The real profiteers in the war were the laborers," said James A. Emery of the National Council of Industrial Defense, speaking at the luncheon.

Monroe Goes to Sheridan on Deserter Charge

James R. Monroe, who hoaxed the Chicago and Rock Island police by "confessing" that he had run down and killed Miss Josephine McDonald with an automobile at Barry avenue and Clark street, was taken to Fort Sheridan yesterday by federal agents. He will be held there pending trial on a charge of desertion from the army.

RELIEF FUND FOR NEAR EAST TAKES NEW INSPIRATION

With the knowledge that Chicago was lagging in its contributions to the Armenian and Syrian relief, the chairman of the campaign organization put forth extra efforts that brought immediate results for the opening days of the drive's second week.

New chairmen were added to the trades division, making a completed list of 36, and under their direction flying squads made an intensive solicitation of business houses in the loop yesterday which substantially helped to swell the trades quota. The railroaders were assured of reaching their quota of $22,000, according to an announcement late last night. This was through the efforts of the employees only and did not include company subscriptions. Yesterday's report of company subscriptions from the stockyards amounted to $40,000.

Today divinity students in all parts of the city will open a telephone campaign for plus subscriptions. At a meeting yesterday of 250 employees of the Lincoln park board 1 per cent of every man's salary for January was pledged to the relief fund.

HIGH EFFICIENCY At Low Mileage-Cost

The outstanding fact about the Oakland Sensible Six is that, at moderate cost, it combines exceptional merit with definite economy.

Investigation among users shows the average MILE-COST of owning and operating Oakland Sensible Sixes to be a minimum figure. This is contrary to the general conception that it costs more money to run a high-powered, strongly constructed and finely designed automobile.

Consider that the Oakland has a high-speed overhead valve, six-cylinder engine, a scientifically balanced chassis without a pound of useless weight, handsomely proportioned bodies, unusual roominess and complete equipment plus a high market value after being used.

Then note that Oakland owners get 18 to 25 miles to a gallon of gasoline, 8,000 to 12,000 miles on tires, have surprisingly little need of mechanical attention to their cars and keep them in service over long periods.

THE SEDAN AND THE COUPE

The Oakland Sensible Six Sedan and the Coupe offer all the advantages mentioned above, plus full comfort and convenience in everyday service.

Being 300 to 500 pounds lighter in weight than other enclosed cars, they are very flexible and easily controlled.

Floor radiators add to their interior comfort on chill days. And one notes, with appreciation, their broad-vision windows, wide-opening doors, perfectly controlled ventilation, large seats, deep upholstery and exceptional equipment.

Come and see these cars at our showroom and realize that, due to the enormous manufacturing resources behind the Oakland Sensible Six, it is possible to own and operate a truly fine car at minimum cost.

Veterans of Transportation at the Motor Truck Show

KISSEL Trucks are not "War Baby" trucks. They were built and making transportation history eight years before August 14, 1914!

These twelve years of practical truck engineering and construction experience give them a veteran ability to solve today's unique haulage problems.

Kissel mechanical features—headlined by the Kissel-built power-plant and topped with the ALL-YEAR cab for full protection to drivers—insure maintaining schedules regardless of weather or road conditions.

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF THEODORE ROOSEVELT

INSTALLMENT XVIII.
By the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

speakership contest [in the New York legislature in which the minority candidate] enlightened me as regards more than the attitude of the people. I had already had some experience with the "silk stock" type, as Abraham Lincoln called it, the gentlemen who were heads over political corruption and discussed it in drawing rooms and parlors, but who were wholly unable to grapple with real men in real life. They were apt vociferously to demand "reform" as if it were some substance, like cake, which could be handed out at will, in tangible form. If only the demand were enough.

Some parlor reformers made up for their inaction by zeal in criticism. They delighted in criticizing the men who really were doing the work, which they said ought to be done, but which they lacked the power to do. They often upbraided those who were not merely idle, but highly undesirable, and played into the hands of the politicians to whom they pretended to be most hostile. Moreover, they believed that their own interference, individually or as a class, were properly, they were apt to show no higher standards than did the men they actually denounced.

Two Prime Requisites.
During my three years' service in the legislature I worked on a very simple philosophy of government. It was that personal character and initiative are the prime requisites in political and social life. It was not only a good but an absolutely indispensable theory as far as it went; but it was defective in that it did not sufficiently allow for the need of collective action. I shall never forget the men with whom I worked hand in hand in these legislative struggles, not only my fellow legislators, but some of the newspaper reporters, such as Spinnery and Cunningham; and then, in addition, the men in the various districts who helped us. We had made up our minds that we must not fight fire with fire; that, on the contrary, the way to win out was to equal our foes in practical efficiency and yet to stand at the opposite plane from them in applied morality.

It was not always easy to keep the just middle, especially when it happened that on one side there were corrupt and unscrupulous demagogues and on the other side corrupt and unscrupulous reactionaries. Our effort was to hold the scales even between both. We tried to stand with the cause of righteousness even though its advocates were anything but righteous. We endeavored to cut out the abuses of property, even the damage done by property were misused in upholding those abuses. We refused to be frightened into sanctioning improper assaults upon property, although we knew that the champions of property themselves did things that were wicked and corrupt.

We were as yet by no means as thoroughly awake as we ought to have been to the need of controlling big business and to the damage done by the combination of politics with big business. In this matter I was not behind the rest of my friends; indeed, I was ahead of them, for no serious leader in political life then appreciated the prime need of grappling with these questions. One partial reason—not an excuse or a justification, but a partial reason—for my slowness in grasping the importance of action in these matters was the corrupt and unattractive nature of so many of the men who championed popular reforms, their insincerity, and the folly of so many of the actions which they advocated. Even at that date I had neither sympathy with nor admiration for the man who was merely a money kind, and I did not regard the "money touch," when divorced from other qualities, as entitling a man to either respect or consideration.

War on Powers That Prey.
As recited above, we did on more than one occasion fight battles in which we neither took nor gave quarter, against the most prominent and powerful financiers and financial interests of the day. But most of the fights in which we were engaged were for pure honesty and decency, and they were more apt to be against that form of corruption which found its expression in democracy which defended or advocated privilege. Fundamentally, our fight was part of the eternal war against the powers that prey; and we carried not a whit in what rank of life these powers were found.

A man who stays long in our American political life, if he has in his soul the generous desire to do effective service for great causes, inevitably grows to regard himself merely as one of many instruments, all of which it may be necessary to use, one at one time, one at another, in achieving the triumph of those causes; and whenever the usefulness of any one has been exhausted it is to be thrown aside. If such a man is wise he will gladly do the thing that is next, when the time and the need come together, without asking what the future holds for him.

Let the half-god play his part well and manfully, and then be content to draw aside when the god appears. Nor should he feel vain regrets that to another it is given to render greater service, and to reap a greater reward. Let it be enough for him that he, too, has served and that by doing well he has prepared the way for the other man who can do better.

To a young man, life in the New York legislature was always interesting, and often entertaining. There was always a struggle of some kind on hand. Sometimes it was on a naked question of right and wrong. Sometimes it was on a question of real constructive statesmanship. Moreover, there were all kinds of humorous incidents, the humor being usually of the macabrous kind.

In one session of the legislature the New York City Democratic representatives were split into two camps, and there were two rivals for leadership. One of these was a thoroughly good, honest, happy-go-lucky person who was afterwards for several years in Congress. He had been a local magistrate and was called Judge. Generally he was friendly, but occasional times I did something that irritated him. He was always willing to vote for any other member's bill himself, and he regarded it as narrow minded for any one to oppose one of his bills, especially if it was unconstitutional.

On one occasion he had a bill to appropriate money, with obvious impurity, for the relief of some miscreant whom he styled "one of the honestest of the state." When I explained to him that it was clearly unconstitutional, he answered, "My friend, the constitution don't touch these things like that," and then added, with an ingratiating smile, "I know, I'd never allow the constitution to come between friends." At the time I was looking over the proofs of Mr. Bryce's "American Commonwealth," and I told him the incident. He put it into the first edition of the "Commonwealth"; whether it is in the last edition or not, I cannot say.

Two Rivals Meet.
On another occasion the same gentleman came to an issue with me in a debate, and wound up his speech by explaining that I occupied what lawyers would call a quasi position on the bill.

His rival was a man of totally different type, a man of great natural dignity, also born in Ireland. He had served with gallantry in the civil war, and at the close of the war he organized an expedition to conquer Canada. The expedition, however, got so drunk before reaching Albany that it was there incarcerated in jail, whereupon the leader abandoned it and went into New York politics instead. He was a man of influence, and later occupied the police department the same position as commissioner which I myself at one time occupied.

He felt that his rival had gained too much glory at my expense, and, walking over with conspicuous solemnity where the said rival was sitting beside me, he said to him: "I would like you to know, Mr. Cameron, of course, was the real name, that Mr. Roosevelt knows more law in a week than you do in a month; and, more than that, Michael Cameron, what do you make by quoting Latin on the floor of this house when you don't know the Alpha and Omega of the language?"

FORD PAMPHLET AGAIN ATTACKED IN LIBEL TRIAL

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 4.—Further evidence was introduced today to support the motion for a change of venue of the $1,000,000 libel suit brought against The Chicago Tribune by Henry Ford. The defendant contends that the prominence of Mr. Ford would tend to bias prospective jurors if the case, which has been set for Feb. 10, is tried in Detroit.

The greater part of two days have been consumed by attorneys for The Tribune in presenting their case, and much documentary evidence remains to be introduced.

Several witnesses testified today as to the extent of the Ford Motor company business in Detroit, and editors of Detroit newspapers were questioned by Ford's lawyers in an effort to show that not all publications here are favorable to the plaintiff.

Attorneys for The Tribune renewed their attack on "The War Record of The Chicago Tribune," a pamphlet issued by Mr. Ford, which they contended was designed to create prejudice against the defendant in the pending case. William Lucking, attorney for Ford, took the witness stand and defended the distribution of the pamphlets on the ground that in order not to circulate them on the eve of the trial, they were held up in December pending a decision on an application for a continuance of the case.

Attorneys for The Tribune made the point that Attorney Lucking, who prepared the pamphlet, knew that the jury for the Feb. 10 trial would be drawn in December, when the pamphlets were issued.

Mrs. Harold E. Foreman
Loses $1,400 Gems in Hotel

Mrs. Harold E. Foreman, whose husband is an official of the Foreman Brothers' Banking company, 30 North La Salle street, has reported to the police the loss of a silk bag containing $1,400 worth of jewelry. She said that she laid it down for a moment in the ladies' waiting room at the Blackstone hotel and that it mysteriously vanished. She listed her loss as three platinum and diamond studs, $600; platinum and diamond bracelet, $400; platinum and diamond cuff links, $400.

Let the half-god play his part well and manfully, and then be content to draw aside when the god appears. Nor should he feel vain regrets that to another it is given to render greater service, and to reap a greater reward. Let it be enough for him that he, too, has served and that by doing well he has prepared the way for the other man who can do better.

113,771 NAMES ADDED TO ONES ON POLL BOOKS

Between 150,000 and 200,000 Unable to Vote at Primary.

Yesterday's registration—the only one before the primaries—placed 113,771 additional names on the poll books—those of 64,146 men and 49,625 women. Last fall's new enrollment, however, was 101,811, making a total for primary purposes, before revision, of 215,582.

Just how many names will be stricken from the books because of duplications, removals, and suspect notices is not known, but probably 50 per cent of the number of new names enrolled yesterday will come off, leaving an approximate total eligible vote for primary day, Feb. 25, of 635,000.

Yesterday's enrollment is 22,307 less than the corresponding registration in the spring of 1915.

Thousands Not Registered.
Compared with the high registration of 1915 there are still missing names 150,000 and 200,000 names. It will be the task of the political parties to ferret them out and get them in the books at the registration of March 11, after the primaries, so they may vote in the election. They are barred from participating in the primary, however.

The banner ward of Chicago yesterday was the Second, the Negro ward. It added the names of 4,423 men and 3,191 women to the enrollment, a total of 7,614. The great residential ward of Chicago on the north side—the Twenty-fifth—put on a total of only 111.

Reason for Increase.
The Thompson people rejoiced, but the political sharks began figuring out the inside dope and this is the story they told:

Alfred McCormick was nominated United States senator none of the city hall leaders thought there might be a chance for Senator Lewis McCombs. They figured, therefore, to a large number of the Negro voters in a primary they could not get them to swing away from the historic Republican party when it came to election day. So the larger the registration for the election last fall the larger the Negro vote McCormick would have.

Women Make Good Showing.
In five wards the women, though in the aggregate making a rather poor showing, registered more names than the men. These are the Tenth, Twelfth, Twentieth, Twenty-third, Twenty-fifth, and Thirty-second.

The total enrollment, last fall and yesterday, however, shows the Twenty-fifth ward still leading the procession as the largest voting population. The Twenty-seventh is next with a total of 35,363, and the thirty-second comes third with 35,431.

Thompson Men Pleased.
The comparatively light registration was interpreted by the Thompson people as favorable to them. The other factions, however, pointed to the large registration of women in the Hyde Park, Town of Lake, and Lake View wards, where Judge Olson is touted to make a great run, as distinctly unfavorable to the city hall forces.

But the big Second ward figures that the mayor and his backers with their last night and giving a "tiger" for the "black belt."

ARRESTED MADMAN WHILE IN OFFICE OF GOV. PHILIPP
Madison, Wis., Feb. 4.—(Special.)—Robert C. Kennan of Portage, Wisconsin, today invaded the private office of Gov. E. L. Philipp, armed with a .38-caliber revolver and a demand for $100,000 of him. The governor told him he would have the money ready for him if he returned in the afternoon and Kennan readily consented.

When Kennan returned Madison policeman seized him and after a short struggle overpowered him and took him to the police station.

One of the letters was addressed to President Wilson and asked what was being done about the appropriation of $250,000 granted to Kennan by agreement of members of both houses of congress.

TRIBUNAL WILL SETTLE FARES ON SUBURBAN LINES

Commerce Commission or Hines Board to Act.

Either the interstate commerce commission or a committee from the staff of Director General of Railroad Hines will form the tribunal before which the director general has ordered settled the question of an advance in suburban railroad fares and the abolishment of certain multiple ride tickets. It is most likely to be the committee from the director general's staff.

This was a statement made last night by an official in the railroad administration. He refused to allow the publication of his name, however, as he was pre-empting the decision of the director general himself.

Meeting Set for Friday.
On Friday morning there is to be a meeting of all the passenger officials of the suburban traffic railroads with Chicago terminals. These will be asked by P. S. Hustis, chairman of the western passenger committee, who has called the meeting, to prepare at once in a form specified by the railroad administration all information which any body of inquiry will want in making a "full review" of the suburban tariff situation.

Hearing on a petition for an injunction by which Attorney General Brundage hoped to stop the railroad administration from putting into effect the boost in fares will now be continued. This hearing is to be held before Judge Landis this morning. Attorneys for the railroad administration yesterday asked the attorney general to agree to the continuance pending the "full review" by "tribunal."

Brundage holds that settlement of fares is the province of the state utilities board, and intimates he will carry the question to the United States Supreme court if fares are raised.

Suit Pending.
The Aurora, Elgin, and Chicago electric line has a suit for an injunction by which it hopes to gain legal authority to exceed the 2 cent a mile maximum rate which the state law allows it. W. H. Hammond, chief accountant for the state public utilities commission at Springfield, came to Chicago yesterday to investigate figures submitted to the court by the electric lines in this suit. The figures purport to show that the line would operate at a loss unless it is granted the rate it is seeking.

FIFTY CROOKS ON EXHIBIT FOR VICTIMS TODAY
There will be a grand exhibition today at the detective bureau.

Working with the police, detectives from Chief of Detectives Mooney's office yesterday rounded up fifty men suspected of having participated in recent pay roll robberies and holdups.

Victims have been invited to come in and look them over.

7 Cent Fare Costs Road Forest Park Franchise
At an election held in the village of Forest Park yesterday the proposal to grant a franchise to the Chicago and West Towns railway company to operate street cars through the town was defeated by a majority of 274 votes. There were 1,614 votes cast. Citizens say the franchise of the company expired in 1917 and complain that the time the village has required no income for the use of its streets. Another reason advanced for the defeat of the franchise proposal is the 7 cent fare now charged by the street car authority of the state public utilities commission.

Whether or not the street car service will be discontinued will be taken up at the next meeting of the village board, Feb. 11.

HELD AS SLAYER OF PETERSON, HE PROVES A THIEF

Wounded Man, Suspected of Murder, Shot in Auto Theft.

For a time last night the police felt pretty sure that they had the slayer of John H. Peterson, saloonkeeper, shot to death early Sunday morning. This confidence came when they discovered that Matthew Carmody, alias William O'Brien, was brought into the Auburn Park hospital at 4 o'clock Sunday morning with two bullet holes in his body.

Peterson had put up a bitter fight for his life and many shots had been fired. Carmody, a paroled convict, 22 years old, sent down as a holdup, had only been out of jail a few months. He was paroled to his wife, Sadie, 315 West Sixty-eighth street.

He insisted to the police that he had been himself a victim of holdups, naming the place and the hour—Sixty-seventh and Halsted streets—at midnight, Saturday night. His wife insisted that he had come stumbling into the house at about that hour and had told a story of the holdup.

Sister Backs Alibi.
His sister, Mrs. Josephine Walsh, insisted upon the correctness of the other woman's statement. The police investigated and soon became convinced that the story was fiction; made up to prove an alibi. They could find no report of such a holdup and the residents of the vicinity he named could remember no shooting.

Moreover, Dr. S. A. Waterman, at the hospital, said he believed the flattened bullets he took from Carmody, one from his arm and the other from his shoulder, were from a .32 caliber pistol. Peterson had emptied a .32 caliber pistol in his death battle in the night of the 29th.

Then along came Patrick Carmody, a brother of the wounded man, with another alibi to prove that Matthew Carmody did not kill Peterson. The brother said:

"He was shot while trying to steal an automobile at Thirty-ninth and Walsh streets. A watchman fired five shots at him and two of them hit him."

Corroborative Evidence.
The police investigated and it was found that Arthur Roberts, supervisor of the American District Telegraph watch service, had reported his automobile stolen at midnight Saturday. He had told the police that he fired five times at the thief and believed he hit him.

The auto was found deserted later. There were two bullet holes through the windshield and the robe was stained with something that looked like blood. The police took Roberts to the hospital last night and he identified Carmody as one of the thieves who took his car.

"Yes, I'm the man," said Carmody. "We tried to get the car. It didn't start good and we were slow getting off. Carmody had not been told that he was a suspect in the Peterson murder. This was kept from him so that he might have no motive in confessing a crime to make an alibi for a greater one."

Not Peterson Slayer.
When the confession was over Lieut. Patrick McCauley said:

"I'm satisfied that he is not connected with the Peterson murder. He looked like a live lead has been smashed."

Roberts used a .38 caliber pistol. Last night the police agreed that the flattened condition of the bullets, due to striking bones, had led them to think they were .32 caliber. Though they are pretty well satisfied that Carmody had nothing to do with the Peterson murder, they still, last night, talked of making certain as to the caliber of the bullets found in the young man.

Two other men, held on suspicion in connection with the murder of Peterson, were practically cleared of suspicion yesterday. These are Swan Hofflander and his brother, Evan Hofflander. Capt. John L. Hogan said that the fact had been established that neither was armed the night of the crime.

Bugle Driver Still Held.
Christian Neilson, 6512 Wentworth avenue, driver of the "horse that walked and the dilapidated buggy," seen slowly moving from the scene of the murder, last night, last night, Neilson gave himself up when he heard that the police were looking for the driver of the buggy.

He told them that he had passed the scene of the shooting and had "kept on going." The police admitted that while they are holding Neilson they have nothing more than the circumstance of his presence in the street at the time against him.

WED ANOTHER TO ESCAPE HER, SAYS UNWED MOTHER

Met at Dance, Loved Too Well, Deserted Girl Declares.

Betrayed.
That, in a word, was the "triangle" story of Miss Anna Gay, 20 year old mother, told against William Steinhouse, 34 years old, 3130 Arthington street, in the Court of Domestic Relations yesterday.

Evidence gathered by Mrs. Nellie Perkins, representing the Women's Protective association and appointed by Judge William M. Gemmill to investigate the case, indicates Steinhouse, alias Rice, lived a double life.

"Steinhouse or Rice completely deceived the girl," declared Mrs. Perkins. "While he was winning her love he was on friendly terms with a woman he later married in order to escape marrying Miss Gay."

Steinhouse was arrested on a warrant procured by Miss Gay charging him with being the father of her 4 month old baby.

According to Mrs. Perkins, Steinhouse married the other woman at Gary, Ind. Last November, when Miss Gay told him she was to become a mother.

The hearing of the case was to have started before a jury yesterday afternoon, but on motion of Assistant State's Attorney Nellie Carlin Judge Gemmill ordered a continuance.

Met Him at Dance.
"I met Rice or Steinhouse, which I am told is his correct name, at a dance about a year ago," Miss Gay said. "He showed me a lot of attention, and said he wanted to marry me but that he had been divorced from his wife only a short time and could not marry for nearly a year."

"I did not know about the woman who is now his wife. I met his first wife once."

On a short time ago I learned a baby was born to his second wife and is now nineteen months old. I went to live with him at 3125 Arthington street."

Steinhouse was noncommittal. "Anything I have to say will be said at the trial," he said.

The courtroom was crowded when the case was called.

WHO'S WHO

New "Social Register" Lists Vampires and Home Wreckers.

Is your name in the Chicago Who's Who, compiled by the social service department, Mrs. Josephine H. Lawrence, editor in chief?

It is, if he is careful. But according to Mrs. Lawrence few of the men and women whose names grace the volume will ever know it. Existence of the book was revealed yesterday.

"Yes," Mrs. Lawrence admitted, "we have the names of hundreds of men and women. The men are homebreakers, who are wrecking some one's home, while the women are the same, only they are called vampires."

"The names of these men and women are given to us and we investigate. If an elderly man is in the habit of riding around in taxicabs at night when he should be home with his wife and children, his name goes into the book. If the facts warrant, we notify him. If they do not, he never knows he is being investigated."

We recognize no immunity list. Rich clubmen who trifle with young girls as well as women of standing who forget their matrimonial vows are investigated."

DOHRER BRIBERY CHARGES LEAD TO ADDED INQUIRIES
Camp Grant officials, it was learned yesterday, are making an investigation of reports that former Lieut. Wiley H. Dohrer, accused of collecting bribes to get discharges for enlisted men, also sold medicines to soldiers to prevent and cure certain diseases.

Barbara Bears Brother's Blame; That's the 'Bondage'

"THE BONDAGE OF BARBARA"

Produced by Goldwyn.
Directed by Emmett J. Flynn.
The cast:
Barbara Grey..... Mae Marsh
Tony, her brother..... Matt Moore
Harry Chambers..... Jack McLean
Jack Newton..... Arthur Housman
John J. Newman..... Harry Hallam
Phil J. Simmons..... Edwin Sturgis

By Mae Tinee.

They seem to be having rather a hard time finding a really suitable vehicle for Mae Marsh. Not that "The Bondage of Barbara" is so much of a thing, but the Marsh admirers who have known their favorite at her best have been conscious lately of feeling aggrieved. And I think they have some reason.

Here's the story of her present suffering:

Barbara Grey and her brother Tony are orphans. They live in a small town called Watertown, I believe; anywhere that name is good as any—where Barbara is employed as cashier in the bank. She's an unusual young woman and keeps house for her brother as well. Brother? Well, he's just at the callow age when one sneers at the "small town stuff" and prates of New York.

The president of the bank has an only son, drol and waster, whose waking hours are spent mostly in a none too reputable billiard hall run by a slippery gentleman known in the community as Flip Simmons. Flip holds a number of the son's I. O. U's and is beginning to harp considerably on the subject of them.

Just about this time young Tony Grey confides to the banker's son his yearnings for the big city. Whereat Jack Newton conceives a plan. If Tony leaves town suddenly and the pay roll is missing, naturally the two would be connected.

"I'll loan you the money if you have nerve to go tonight," says the banker's son pleasantly. Yes, my dear, he does, Tony all unsuspecting that he is seconding a robbery.

Having seen Tony on the train, Newton plants suspicion in the mind of the sister, who hurries to the bank. There she finds the safe locked—and her brother's cigarette case. She thinks she knows the truth. As she leaves the bank the night watchman sees her. Next day he tells of the encounter, and Barbara, refusing to answer questions, is convicted of robbery and sentenced to the reformatory.

How her name cleared with the assistance of her fiancé, a village attorney, occupies the rest of the picture.

Many fans will be interested in "The Bondage of Barbara" for the reason that Matt Moore "comes back" as the fiancé. Not as magnificent as Tom nor with his forceful personality, this brother nevertheless has always been a favorite and played as well as the role admits this time. Edwin Sturgis always adds prestige to a picture, and Arthur Housman, if one may revert to slang, is "no dub."

NOTES OF SCREENDOM

"Isn't Owen Moore ever going to play in any more pictures?" the fans query complacently. Yes, my dear, he is. Goldwyn has just engaged him for leads. The Goldwyn cry is evidently "Moore! Moore!" Tom, Matt and Owen are now all in this company's employ.

Owing to the number of young men who donned the khaki and went to war, producers in Los Angeles were for a long time considerably up against it for "extras." In many instances the situation is beginning to right itself.

Lois Weber, recently engaged to direct Anita Stewart, faces an operation on her arm. She broke it recently and it failed to set properly.

Tribune Cook Book

By Jane Eddington.
To Your Muttons.

Two or three months ago I received a letter from one of the packing houses suggesting that an article on mutton would be timely. The subject did not fit into my food thoughts at that time, so I did not write about it. But since receiving the other day a folder from the American Sheep Breeder on "Mutton or Lamb for Dinner," I have done a little reasoning and I see for myself why it is eminently appropriate that we eat mutton or lamb in these days, even if we do not prefer it to all other meat, as I do and partly because it lends itself to such nice effects.

If Europe can and will buy our foods it wants fat. That largely means pork. One cannot spend a year studying foods in Europe, as I once did, without knowing how greatly dependent that country is on pork, especially in certain localities; some, like Ireland, having little other meat. Northern Italy uses butter for all sorts of cooking; the coast around Genoa and west uses oil, but Rome wants lard. And if we sell to Germany no other meat will be so acceptable as pork.

It looks as though mutton was preeminently our home requisite for the present. The leg of mutton for ours, then! It would be a white for each housewife to get the folder mentioned by addressing American Sheep Breeder, Union Stockyards, Chicago. The illustrations in it will help her to know cuts, the recipes will help her in the cooking, and she should read carefully the introductory text for its valuable and general information about cuts, etc.

The most important single item, as far as the cooking of lamb and mutton is concerned, is mentioned in the following paragraphs: Before cooking, the thin, papery membrane of skin on the outer surface of mutton and lamb should be removed. The "fell," as this is called, absorbs the odors of the refrigerator, carries a woolly smell, and is tough.

No seasoning of onion and carrot will quite deaden the flavor of wool, if any part of this skin is left on. It should be removed from chops, from mutton fat, and from roast of lamb or mutton, as well as from the pieces for stew. Mutton and lamb fat is delicious eating when it is removed. It is more or less unpalatable when it is not.

He Answered the Signal.

Some time ago, when "jitneys" sprang into existence, it was customary for people to stand in the road and signal cars as they approached. As I had a car of my own, and therefore no occasion to hail a "jitney bus," I was not quite familiar with this custom.

One evening when I was leisurely driving north on a public thoroughfare I was confronted by a young lady who suddenly signaled me to stop. I stopped the car and she jumped into the seat beside me, inquiring if I was going north.

As we proceeded she complimented me on the comforts of my machine, and asked me to give her my license and telephone number, so that she and her family might employ me at some future date. I told her the license number and threw my telephone number in for good measure. When we reached her destination she inquired of the chauffeur, and after considerable embarrassment on the part of both of us I succeeded in imparting the information that I was not a licensed "jitney" driver, and that being a law abiding citizen I could not accept money without a license.

Several days later I received a telephone call from her. She tried to apologize, but we both saw the funny side of it and enjoyed a hearty laugh. She invited me to call, and my car traveled the route north frequently from that evening. When winter came and the weather rendered it impossible to travel with comfort I decided to move north for good.

Now the only signal I obey is that of the crossing policeman, and my wife grants me the privilege of doing that.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Rather Unpopular.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 20 and rather unpopular, so I think that by writing to you some nice young man may see it. I am a girl of good nature, family, considered good looking. I would like some young man a few years older than I, who had a good income, so we would live comfortably, and that he be an American. Please advise me if you think it an unwise, romantic idea."

My dear Rebecca, I cannot help you out on finding a young man with the requirements you ask, because I cannot contribute my column to the matrimonial advertising cause. However, your longing isn't any more unwise or romantic than that of any one of your girl friends. A certain amount of romance is a healthy thing for any girl beside me, inquiring if I was going north.

As we proceeded she complimented me on the comforts of my machine, and asked me to give her my license and telephone number, so that she and her family might employ me at some future date. I told her the license number and threw my telephone number in for good measure. BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

EMMA: PERHAPS THE FREQUENT marceling is responsible for the split and broken hairs. I hear complaints all the time about the owner of the broken hair that it is due to a too hot iron. Which is the most reasonable thing in the world to be able to believe. No, I don't believe in arguments against it. Have you tried having your hair water waved? That's the safest waving system. If it has a natural tendency to curl it will take the water wave nicely.

CHILBLAINS: THEY MUST BE awfully uncomfortable. However, here's a remedy which I hope you'll try out. Plunge your feet into cold water containing ammonia or salt or tincture. Dust with talcum powder. Then apply one coat of tincture of iodine, and after that is thoroughly dry apply another one. Do not wear woolen stockings and keep away from the heat. Continue the treatment each night until the condition has disappeared.

DOLLY: SOME SKINS ARE EXTREMELY sensitive to the use of the depilatory or the razor blade. In applying the depilatory you will have to be careful to follow instructions to the letter and not allow it to remain on too long. In either event I would advise you to rub cold cream thoroughly under the arms after removing the hairs and leave it on for a few minutes. That saves much irritation.

NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF OR A FALLING HAIR

Save your hair! Double its beauty in just a few moments.

"Dandere" makes your hair thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful.

Within ten minutes after application of Dandere you can see the effect. A single trace of dandruff or hair that will please you most will be gone after a few weeks' use, when you will have new hair, fine and downy at growth, long, strong and beautiful over the scalp.

Dandere combats the hair that sheds, showers of rain and smashes any vegetation. It goes right to the root, invigorates and strengthens them, thus stimulating the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

A little Dandere immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No reference how dull, faded, brittle, or thin, just apply Dandere and carefully brush through your hair, taking one strand at a time. The effect is so apparent that your hair will be light, fluffy and abundant; an incomparable beauty, softness and luxuriance.

Get small bottle of Dandere from any drug store or by mail. It costs only 25 cents, and proves that your hair is as pretty as that of any—just as it has been, and that's all you surely can have. Dandere has no effect on it if you will try a little Dandere.

SWIFT & CO.
NOTES TO YIELD
6.20 PER CENT
Will Be Offered at Slightly Below Par.

BY GLENN GRISWOLD.
Details of the $25,000,000 Swift note issue were announced yesterday. The notes bear 6 per cent interest, will be dated Feb. 15, 1919, and will mature
Aug. 15, 1921.

The Illinois Trust and Savings bank has been selected as syndicate manager by its associates, the First Trust and Savings bank, the Merchants Loan and Trust company, and the Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings bank.
A selling syndicate composed of a large number of banks and dealers is being formed and probably will be closed Friday. A public offering will be made next week at a shade below par to give the notes a yield of 6 1/4 to 6.30 per cent.

Big Financing Being Done.
A bulk of big financing is being done this week to meet capital obligations before the next government loan is near enough to hurt the market. A Drexel & Bonham three year 7 per cent commercial notes of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey. They will be sold to yield about 7.55. The notes are convertible into a new issue of 1 per cent preferred, $10,000,000 of which will be offered to stockholders at par.

This indicates the low credit enjoyed by public utility concerns. The New Jersey corporation is one of the best of the country's utilities, but it pays 1 1/2 per cent more for money than good industrial concerns must pay. Even the new Philadelphia company 6 per cent notes are sold to yield nearly 7 1/2 per cent.

To Seek $5,000,000.
The New York City will enter the market in the next few days for $5, 000,000 through the sale of equipment trust notes to pay for cars and locomotives ordered some time ago. John Skellon Williams, director of finance of the railroad administration, will handle the deal and will allow all banks to bid for the business.

Approves the weakness of public utility credit. A. W. Harris, president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, is urging the Chicago Association of Commerce and similar business associations to study the needs of the utilities and make a direct campaign to secure rates that will save the companies from further embarrassment.

RECORD PRICES FOR MARTEN FUR
AT GOTHAM SALE

New York, Feb. 4.—(Special.)—Under the impetus of spirited bidding the record price of $22.50 each for martens furs was obtained at the second day of the annual midwinter fur auction sale now being held in this city. The day was further featured by the disposal of nearly $1,250,000 worth of furs, making a total for the two days of the sale of $2,000,000.

Various types of fox skins composed the bulk of today's offerings and the greatest interest was shown in white fox, the best pelts bringing as much as $62 each. As high as $47 was paid for the best red fox. Other prices for the day were: gray fox, $5; blue fox, $14; cross fox, $14; and Australian fox, $5.60.

Compared with the prices at the October sale the following percentage changes were made: Gray fox, 80 per cent up; blue fox, unchanged; white fox, 15 per cent up; cross fox, unchanged; Australian fox, 10 per cent lower; red fox, 15 per cent lower; Japanese fox, 10 per cent lower, and martens, 10 per cent up.

Vessels Are Appraised
at Rate of $30 a Ton

Boston, Mass., Feb. 4.—(Special.)—In appraising the 225,000 tons of Atlantic Gulf and West Indies boats at $30,000, and in comparison with war prices for shipping this value would appear most conservative—a valuation of $30 a ton is given to the boats in question.
The question arises: Is $30 a ton a trustworthy valuation for the future in the light of the experience of the past?

"HARD SKIN" AND FOOT CALLUSES Magic! Peel them right off without pain or soreness

Don't suffer! A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store. Apply a few drops on the toughest calluses or "hard skin" on bottom of feet, then lift those painful spots right off with fingers.
When you peel off corns or calluses with Freezone the skin beneath is left pink and healthy and never sore, tender or even irritated.

Port Arthur Shipbuilding.
W. S.—The Port Arthur Shipbuilding company earned 25 1/2 per cent on its common stock in the year ended June 30 last. The company took over the yards in December, 1916, assuming $430,- 000 of serial bonds then outstanding and issuing $1,500,000 of preferred stock and as much common. Since then the bonded debt has been reduced to $310,000. The company has a subsidiary of $42,700 a year from the city of Port Arthur and the Canadian government, which will run until after all the bonds mature. The shipbuilding business has been enjoying a great boom which, of course, will not last many years. It is said, however, that the subsidy added to the profits of ordinary repair work will cover all fixed charges.

Chicago and Alton.
W. A. D.—The Chicago and Alton 5 1/2 per cent bonds outstanding to the amount of $2,000,000 are secured by first lien on eighty-five miles of road and are junior to $45,350,000 of bonds on 603 miles. As the first first lien bonds are at the rate of over $75,000 a mile, the second lien would seem to have much less security. Inasmuch as the company has fully earned its fixed charges in only one year since 1911, the junior bonds are speculative.
Union Pacific interests are said to be

Firestone Tire and Rubber.
A. J. S.—The Firestone Tire and Rubber company sold $75,801,507 worth of shares in the year ended Oct. 31 last, and made a profit of $6,520,442 after deducting $1,800,000 for war taxes. The 6 per cent dividend on preferred stock took $10,000, leaving a surplus of $6,- 520,442, which equals over $17 a share on the common stock, which is of $10 par. Dividends amounting to $6 a share were paid and the rest was added to surplus, making $30,023,287. In the preceding year about $12 a share was earned. The common stock, at its present high market price, evidently is speculative.

Brief Answers.
S. B. R.—The Texas and Pacific Railroad company is in the hands of receiver.
Some months ago a new and productive oil field was discovered and the railway crosses it. The company's right to drill is questioned, the shares are, therefore, about as speculative as an ordinary oil stock.

W. H. W.—The market price of Shattuck-Arizona stock has declined in the last two years because output, profits and dividends declined. Labor conditions were the principal cause of diminished output.

E. L. G. Sheldon, Ia.—Registered Liberty bonds can be sold one or two points below the quotations for coupon bonds.

INCREASE YOUR PRODUCTION.

The majority of manufacturers who are alive and aggressive and awake to the times are continually seeking for their institutions to increase the effectiveness of their organization, to increase their production, their profits and also increasing their revenues.
About this time every man should consider the fact that he is not only a worker physically and also from a monetary standpoint, but he is also a man who is a part of the foundation which has previously been made in order to make the country a success from every standpoint.
It frequently occurs that men become satisfied. They get into the old rut and cannot get out of it. Life is not a static thing. It moves unless you get busy at once and start to utilize the things that are around you.
You have been given to you.
It is our business to better conditions and we have successfully placed thousands of Spring Fashions Lend Especial Encouragement to the Fine Art of the Custom Tailor

SUITS are particularly well liked, and display a marked versatility both in fabrics and styles. While navy tricotines richly girdled or handsomely embroidered seem to deserve first place, fine covert cloths, simply developed, and rough-woven Shantung must also be considered.

Between the box jacket which frankly proclaims itself part of a suit, and the bloused jacket which leads most people to consider it part of a frock, choice must be made in favor of their particular becomingness to the individual. Fashion seems impartial and is willing to yield either style for a short slip-on cape if her devotees prefer it.

Special displays of newly arrived Models—
Women's and Misses' styles—now. Discount on all orders executed during this month.

SURELY few Valentines will serve as faithfully as these exquisite, hand-sewn linen squares to remind their Valentine's day recipient of your thoughtfulness. They have backgrounds of faraway lands to lend them enchantment, and unusual charm to add to your pleasure in selection from this collection.

French colored novelties are particularly gay and worthy of one's Valentine. But there are almost equally lovely styles from Switzerland, Ireland and the Madeira Isles. $1 and up. Many other Handkerchiefs, 25c to $5. First Floor, Middle Room.
